M'GOVERN IN PRIMARY BATTLE

Fights to Capture Majority Commissionerships; See Mansfield on Ticket

1—County Commissioner C. C. McGovern made formal announcement of his intention to enter the Republican primary, omitting reference to a probable running mate. He charged waste of public money and "colossal engineering blunders" in the construction of Allegheny River boulevard and the County Airport.

2—City Controller James P. Kerr announced that he would be a candidate in the Republican primary to succeed himself.

3—Sheriff Robert S. Cain's petitions to place him on the Republican primary ballot for county treasurer were put in circulation.

4—Announcement that County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong and State Senator James J. Coyne would run together for the two majority commissionerships was believed due at any time.

5—John Douglas, Jr., former clerk of courts and a candidate for mayor in 1921, who withdrew before the primary, took out nominating petitions for clerk of courts.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern's declaration of candidacy for re-election today ended a period of suspense among Regular Republicans and "Independents," as he had successfully concealed his intention even from intimate friends.

It was conceded he could not be defeated if he awaited until the general election but the question was whether he would take a running mate and enter the pri-

Boardman, Polando See New Mark For Distance

By J. H. WALTON
International News Service.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 30. — Dropping unexpectedly out of fog-laden skies, Russell Boardman and John Polando, veteran American airmen, landed their plane at this ancient capital of the Sultans today, claiming a new world's record for long distance nonstop flying.

Unreported since they cut across the southern part of Newfoundland and headed out over the great circle course 10 hours after taking off from Floyd Bennett Airport, Brooklyn, the airmen virtually had been given up for lost. They had been in the air 49 hours and 18 minutes when they set their plane, Cape Cod, down here after flying more than 5,000 miles through storm and fog.

Boardman told International News Service a few moments after the landing:

"We are happy to have set a new record.

"We had a good crossing, and are particularly pleased that the

Ottawa First Stop On Flight Over Alaska, Pacific

International News Service.

NORTH HAVEN, Me., July 30. — Off on their vacation adventure of the air, which will take them over the great north woods, the plains of Canada, the ice and snow of Alaska, the Pacific floes, Siberia's desolation and the cherry blossom land of Japan to Tokio, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh left this island today.

Their first stopping place was Ottawa, Canada, 370 miles distant.

The Lindberghs spent the night here and today bade goodbye for a month or more to their 13-month-old baby, Lindy Jr., United States Senator and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, of New Jersey, parents of Mrs. Lindbergh; Miss Constance Morrow, and friends.

RADIO TESTED

The "flying colonel" and his wife accompanied by Senator and Mrs. Morrow spent two hours this morning testing the plane's radio equipment. Then the party went to the Morrow cottage and returned carrying a basket lunch.

Mrs. Lindbergh, in charge of the radio on the flight to the Orient, said that it was found to be working perfectly.

The air jaunt to Ottawa takes the flying Lindberghs over the vast north woods of Maine and Quebec.

Perfect flying weather prevailed today in the wake of a summer storm which did considerable damage to sections of this state and Vermont.

With characteristic thoroughness Col. Lindbergh had 50 extra gallons of gasoline put aboard his Orient-bound plane, He said:

"I think we had plenty to get to Ottawa, but I want to be sure."

GIVEN OVATION

The Lindberghs left the shores of the United States amid a veritable bedlam of noise from whistles and siren horns. Hundreds of persons crowded the wharves and lined the flat tops of buildings cheering and waving their handkerchiefs and American flags.

Lindbergh had some difficulty in getting away and it was fully 15 minutes from the time they cast off the line from the mooring until they shot into the air. This was because of a fleet of speed craft rushing up and down the thoroughfare.

Today

They Shot It Out,
He Saved Britain,
Have It, And Tell It,
Salaries Go Down.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

AMERICANS, AS LORD Northcliffe remarked, are a "docile people" and stand almost anything. But a prohibition-gangster incident in New York City ought to arouse them. Three beer gangs in Harlem had a misunderstanding in One Hundred and Seventh street and decided to shoot it out. In the course of events, five young children were shot down. One is dead, two more may die.

Prohibition might be a great blessing, if it would work. But it is a big IF.

And meanwhile, with speakeasies on every block in New York City, gangsters shooting it out, and killing children, the people eventually may become impatient.

THE DEAD CHILD, his spine shattered by a bullet that entered the thigh, was 5 years old. His brother, Salvatore Vanzalli, is in the Fifth Avenue Hospital. Surgeons have taken five bullets from his body.

Little Michael Cevilaqua, 3 years old, has had two bullets taken from his back. The shooting occurred in a city block occupied largely by Sicilians.

All refused to give any evidence, knowing that to talk would mean death.

Crime, well organized, knows how to protect itself. Our so-called "civilized society" does not know how to protect itself.

LLOYD GEORGE, after a dangerous operation, was said yesterday to be near death.

Sixty-eight years old, Lloyd George is a man of unusual strength, despite the great burdens that he has carried for more than 30 years, and his strong will should help him.

If the worst happens, Great Britain will realize a little late, what it owes to Lloyd George.

WITHOUT LLOYD GEORGE and Clemenceau, Germany would have won the big war, and there would probably be a young Hohenzollern sitting on the British throne today.

As chancellor of the British exchequer, Lloyd George provided money for the war. As minister of munitions he supplied munitions for the war.

And as prime minister HE WON THE WAR.

YOU WILL SUCCEED if you have what people want, and LET THEM KNOW YOU HAVE IT.

Mr. Tom Mix, like other able merchants, understands that.

He began last Saturday a sale to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of what is now the May store in Los Angeles, and did the biggest days business

CHICAGO, July 30. (INS.) — Scarface Al" Capone, reputedly czar of the underworld and officially Public Enemy No. 1, smiled pleasantly today as he walked the last steps of the long trail from booze, beer and vice to the penitentiary.

Capone faces a longer prison sentence than he expected, it was indicated as he stood before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to receive sentence on his plea of guilty to charges of violating the income tax and prohibition laws.

BIG GLASS JOB PLACED HERE

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has been awarded contracts to supply all the glass for Radio City, in New York.

The contract, understood to be the largest ever placed for building glass, will require over 1,000,000 square feet.

It will supply material for the glazing of 28,000 windows and 10,000 doors and panels for office partitions in the 10 buildings of the Radio Center. The contract was placed in the name of the Metropolitan Square Corporation.

This is the third large contract for Radio City to be awarded to Pittsburgh firms. The American Bridge Company will fill the largest structural steel order on record, while the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company will supply the plumbing equipment.

It is understood that the glass order will be filled by the Creighton and Ford City plants.

Senator Stevens Shows Improvement

Man Shot at Officer's Side; Racket Hinted

Wife of Assailant Sees Attack; Held With Mate

Shot down while talking to a policeman at Larimer avenue and Meadow street early today, Fred R. Vance, 21, of 527 North Negley avenue was believed the victim of an attempted racket murder.

Vance, also known as Valalia, according to police, is in the Pittsburgh Hospital, with bullet wounds in his hand and leg.

Held incommunicado in East End police station are Frank M. White, 26, of 605 Larimer avenue, who is alleged to have done the shooting, his wife, Thelma, 621 Larimer avenue, and Clarence R. R. Coates, 21, of Youngwood, Pa. Coates, a friend of Vance, is held as a material witness.

DENY SHOOTING

At a hearing today before Magistrate Charles Papale, White and his wife denied knowledge of the shooting.

Patrolman Harvey Connors testified that while he was talking to Vance and Coates, an automobile occupied by White and his wife drew up alongside. Three shots were fired at close range, two striking Vance and the third going wild.

Connors jumped on the running board and wrested the revolver from White, he said. It contained three empty shells.

The Whites and Coates were held over by Magistrate Papale.

CAUSE MYSTERY

Neither the police nor Vance could throw light on the shooting, they said. Vance said he was acquainted with the Whites, but knew of no reason why they should shoot him.

Hint of a racket shooting was found in the statement of police that Vance served a federal prison term several years ago on a drug peddling charge.

Police Inspector Bernard Kirley refused to permit anyone to talk with the Whites. The usual practice of sending suspects to the Detective Bureau for questioning and finger printing was not followed.

Joan Bennett, Hurt By Horse, Improves

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 30. (AP.) — Joan Bennett, screen actress, injured when she was thrown from a horse, spent a restless night, but physicians said her condition today showed considerable improvement.

The fractured hip and spine of the actress were placed in a cast.

HARMONY ROUTE CLOSURE ASKED

Abandonment of the Harmony route, the interurban line between Pittsburgh and New Castle and Butler, was recommended in a petition filed by Maurice B. Scharff, receiver, filed in Federal Court today.

If the petition is granted at a hearing set for Aug. 11, the old road would cease operations at midnight, Aug. 15.

It was the third similar petition filed by Scharff, who last April 6 was named receiver of the Harmony and Butler Short line routes. The Butler route was abandoned and junked April 20. On June 9 last Scharff received the court's permission to abandon two branches of the Harmony line and today's action set in motion legal machinery to wipe out the last of the old Harmony route, officials designated as the Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler and New Castle Railway Company.

Scharff said the estimated deficit for July is $4,728, which would wipe out the $8,000 which he borrowed to operate the line last June.

Escaped Convicts Kidnap Motorists

KANSAS CITY, July 30. (AP.) — Myers Gould, 18, and Leslie Goodnight, 21, escaped convicts were sought here today following reports they had kidnaped two motorists and used the machines to further their flight.

The convicts escaped yesterday while hauling provisions to the state penitentiary farm near Jefferson City.

Mercury Up to 89; Woman Collapses Paying Taxes

As Pittsburgh continued to swelter in a heat wave today Mrs. Minnie A. Beall of 3223 Warwick, South Side, collapsed in the County Treasurer's office, where she had gone to pay her taxes. After Miss Dora Josefson, city nurse, gave first aid she was taken home in a cab.

The mercury advanced to 89 at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said he did not expect the temperature to go much above 90 today, but on account of the high humidity, the heat was very oppressive.

Rains which were expected to break the heat wave last night passed around Pittsburgh.

Shaw Silent After 2-Hour Talk With Stalin

By CHARMION VON WIEGAND

MOSCOW, July 30. (Universal.) — George Bernard Shaw, self-styled revolutionary writer, and Josef Stalin, most famed revolutionary living, met last night in the grim fastnesses of the Kremlin.

Shaw and Stalin were together for 2 hours and 20 minutes, which constituted one of the longest interviews the Russian dictator has ever granted to a foreigner.

Whether Stalin is "merely a name or a man" to Shaw the Irish playwright refused to disclose after the meeting. Shaw and other members of Lady Astor's party merely put their fingers to their lips when queried as to what transpired between the two famous men. Shaw's eyes glistened as he left the Kremlin and it was apparent he had been deeply stirred.

Earlier in the evening Shaw visited Maxim Gorky, the Russian novelist. They spent 20 minutes together discussing religion. Shaw leaves for Berlin tonight.

U. S. FLIERS LAND IN TURKEY, NEW RECORD CLAIMED

TWO HOP 5,000 MILES OVER LAND, SEA

Unseen for Many Hours, Pair Feared Lost Arrive at Istanbul Goal on Time

flight took only a little more than 49 hours. The warm reception accorded us here was gratifying and thrilling.

"Tomorrow we will go on to Angora. In the meantime, a little sleep is the chief item on the program."

DROP MAIL AT PARIS

By hitting Istanbul "on the nose" at the end of their long and hazardous journey, Boardman and Polando were believed to have bettered by more than 100 miles the last previous long-distance record set by the French airmen, Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Lieut. Maurice Bellonte, who flew 4,900 miles from Paris to Tsitsihar, Northern Manchuria in 1929.

Few trans-Atlantic flights have had a more surprising ending than this daring adventure. The fliers sped along the sea lanes of the north Atlantic without being once sighted, roared over the densely populated capitals of Europe without their presence becoming known, and even left their calling card—in the shape of a packet of mail—dropped in the center of Le Bourget flying field.

...dest and unassuming con... ing their great venture, prob... one of the most astounding aerial navigation feats in history. Boardman and Polando nevertheless were amazed to learn that they had flown across the entire map of Continental Europe without once being seen or heard.

HIDDEN BY FOG

They realized that fog and mist probably obscured their plane from view during a large part of the journey, but felt certain that Paris would realize they were in the vicinity when they figuratively swooped down and rang the "aerial door-bell" of the French capital.

Considering weather conditions and the speed capacity of their plane, Boardman and Polando made good time on their long flight. They averaged something above 100 miles an hour for the entire journey.

Istanbul thoroughly accustomed to the roar of airplanes through constant mail and passenger service maintained between this city and the capitals of Western Europe, was thrilled over the brilliantly successful termination of the first nonstop flight ever staged with the "Gateway to the Dardanelles" as its goal.

ACCURACY LAUDED

Turkish aeronautical authorities were loud in praise of the "bell's-eye" navigation of the fliers, and acclaimed it a flight equaled in perfection only by the crossing of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris. Not only did the fliers reach Istanbul without stopping, but they made the journey on clockwork schedule. They allowed themselves 50 hours for the journey, and made it with 42 minutes to spare.

Herndon, Pangborn Speed For Berlin From London

CROYDON AIRPORT, LONDON, July 30.—(INS.)—Still determined to shatter the round-the-world record held by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, Huth Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, American trans-Atlantic airmen, left Croydon at 2:14 p. m. today (9:14 a. m. Pittsburgh time) in their speedy monoplane for Berlin.

The fliers reached Croydon this morning after spending the night at Moyle Grove, North Wales, where they landed in a fog after successfully completing their trans-Atlantic hop for New York.

CERTAIN OF RECORD

Pangborn and Herndon supervised the checking of their plane's engine before taking off for the German capital. They had planned to check the motor at Moscow, but decided to do it immediately in order to save valuable time on the later stages of the flight.

Pangborn told International News service just before the take-off:

"You can bet we beat the record."

The red Bellanca came down at Croydon out of gray, dripping skies to a rainsoaked field. Not more than 50 people, mostly newspapermen and photographers, braved the dismal weather to welcome the fliers.

Herndon told International News Service:

"Tell our friends that we did not have to land, but thought it the best course because of the fog.

FLY BLIND OVER SEA

"The murk over the Atlantic was terrible. We were forced to fly at a height of from 4,000 to 14,000 feet to escape it and saw the sea only once. Except for the first 90 minutes we flew completely blind. Our trip from Wales today was almost as bad."

The two men talked to correspondents as they ate. Pangborn said:

"We realize that we cannot make the trip round the world in six days as we hoped, but we intend to do it under nine."

CANNON FIGHTS TO BLOCK QUIZ

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP.)—Robert H. McNeil, attorney for Bishop James Cannon, Jr., today filed with the District of Columbia Supreme Court a petition for a writ to prevent the Senate Campaign Funds Committee from inquiring into his campaign activities against Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

Justice Proctor declined to issue a rule until the Senators have been notified of the filing of the suit. He directed McNeil to notify the committee, of which Senator Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota, is chairman.

The Southern Methodist churchman has repeatedly disputed the authority of Senate committees to investigate the manner in which approximately $65,500 which he received from E. C. Jameson, New York capitalist, to use against Smith, was spent.

FRANCE, ITALY OPEN PARLEY

PARIS, July 30.—(AP.)—Naval negotiations looking toward a new limitation agreement between France and Italy today were reported to have begun with Rene Masgli acting for France.

The agreement of last March, which was approved in principle and then failed when the diplomats attempted to work out the details, has been dropped and an entirely new method of approach has been adopted. The French thesis of the right to replace superannuated naval units remains unchanged.

A change in Germany's program of replacing old cruisers with pocket battleships, and an agreement by Germany to build no more pocket battleships for the duration of the present naval treaty agreements would, it is said here, make it easier for France to make concessions.

FORD 68, JUST 'ANOTHER DAY'

DETROIT, July 30.—(AP.)—Time, like fortune, has been kind to Henry Ford.

So said his friends today as the magnate observed his 68th birthday. Ford did not "celebrate" his birthday, for it was "just another day" to him. Apparently in the best of health and spirits, he spent most of the day in the gardens of his estate, "Fairlane," at Dearborn, or in the engineering laboratory of his plant "just across the road."

Ford's slender, wiry figure, straight carriage, alert footstep and energetic movement told of excellent health and spirits.

50 POLICE HUNT GANG KILLERS OF CHILD

Aroused Citizenry, Reward Spurs Search in New York; Silence Hampers Sleuths

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP.)—Fifty policemen of Italian extraction, disguised as workmen or men-about-town, strolled the streets of Harlem's "Little Italy" today, their ears open for a clue to the child slaying on Tuesday.

The Police Department, urged on by an aroused citizenry and newspaper rewards totaling $15,000, sent every available man to ferret out each clue that might lead to the gunmen who took the life of one child and sent four others to the hospital in trying to shoot down their intended victim, a still unidentified man.

Detectives were hampered by the reticence of a grief-stricken Sicilian community, yet they doggedly kept on bringing in suspects, and checking the motor vehicle bureau files for owners of green touring cars. It was such an automobile that drew up to the curbing at East One Hundred and Seventh street and sprayed the front of the Helmar Club, a pool room, full of gun slugs.

Whether a beer feud or a policy gaming racket was responsible for the shooting could not be ascertained. Commissioner Mulrooney and Assistant Chief Inspector Sullivan, commanding the detective division, said today when they took personal charge of the hunt.

Gov. Roosevelt commented on the shooting as a "damnable outrage."

POST AND GATTY IN NEWARK

Wylie Post and Harold Gatty, round-the-globe fliers, who were acclaimed by Pittsburghers yesterday, took off in the Winnie Mae from Bettis Field at 9:15 today for Newark, N. J., where they arrived a few hours later. They stopped at York, Pa., for weather reports.

The two were happy over their reception here and equally enthused by news which they received just before leaving that Russell Boardman and John Polando, trans-Atlantic fliers, had landed in Istanbul, Turkey. They also were keenly interested in the arrival at Croydon, England, of Herndon and Pangborn on their attempt to beat Post and Gatty's flight around the world.

The program in honor of the airmen was concluded last night by an aerial circus at Bettis Field. Previously they had been welcomed at the City-County Building by Mayor Charles H. Kline; had been honor guests at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon, and had visited the Tuberculosis Hospital, Children's Hospital, county airport and St. Paul's Orphanage.

Alarm Sounded by Mrs. Keith Miller Saves Scores

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., July 30.—(AP.)—Fire discovered by Mrs. Keith Miller, aviatrix, when smoke filled her room, today destroyed the Grant Hotel, largest hostelry in this village. The loss was approximately $150,000.

Mrs. Keith Miller was appearing at a Chautauqua here. The fire started in a storeroom next to her room in the hotel. She was awakened by the smoke and aroused the hotel management and the other guests. Fifty of the 54 rooms were occupied. All the occupants escaped.

Mrs. Keith-Miller attempted a non-stop flight from Pittsburgh to Havana last year, was forced down, but resumed her flight to Cuba. Returning she was caught in a storm and landed on an isolated island in the Bahamas.

calmly, but his attorneys were gloomy, one asserting:

"I can't figure out what the judge has in his mind. It apparently means anything from 10 to 40 years."

Judge Wilkerson then commented:

"If Capone expects leniency he will have to take the stand in his own defense and show wherein he is deserving of leniency."

NEVER ON STAND

Should Capone follow this suggestion it would be the first time he ever had taken the witness stand.

Capone came to court alone, driving from a hotel to the federal building without his usual body guards. Cordons of uniformed and plain clothes detectives cleared his way to the courtroom, through a tremendous crowd that fought and shouted for a glimpse of the gangster, but governmental agents and city police held back the surging mob. Entrance to the courtroom was permitted only by identification. At that it was filled to overflowing.

Capone, before entering the courtroom, declared that he was through with racketeering forever and that upon his release from prison he will become an honest business man. He denied that he was a head of a gang. It was merely an "organization," he said.

Mother of Polando Hysterical With Joy

LYNN, Mass., July 30.—(INS.)—Hysterical with joy upon the receipt of the news that her son, John, with Russell Boardman, Boston aviator, had successfully completed a non-stop flight from New York to Constantinople, Turkey, Mrs. Mary L. Polando, 68, ran through her home today before regaining her composure. Later she said:

"God certainly guided John and Russell in this marvelous flight. All that my family and I could do was to pray and have faith."

WOMAN'S FATAL PLUNGE

Ill Health, Fear of Wage Cut, Cause Of Suicides

Four suicides—a woman who leaped 100 feet from an East Boroughs' bridge, a man and a woman who shot themselves, and a man who cut his throat with a razor—were recorded at the county morgue during the 24 hours ending this morning.

Mrs. Lillian Williams, 45, of 541 Duquesne street, Rankin, leaped from Tassey Hollow Bridge, connecting Swissvale and North Braddock, shortly after 7 a. m. today.

Her body was found by police who had been asked to search for her by Reese Williams, 57, her husband, a bricklayer who had been out of work for several months.

Williams, aiding in the search, saw a crowd gathered in Woodstock avenue near the bridge. In the hollow, 100 feet below, he saw the mangled body of his wife. She died in Braddock General Hospital an hour later.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

Williams said his wife had been ill about eight months, but recently had been discharged as cured from the City Home at Woodville. She disappeared from home during the night, he said.

The body of George A. Bickell, 67, of 503 Beechwood avenue, Carnegie, was found in his bedroom this morning by members of the family. There was a bullet hole through his temple. Coroner's office attaches said it was self-inflicted.

FEARED WAGE CUT

Bickell, a steel company employe, was despondent because of reports of a plan to reduce wages in the plant where he was employed, the coroner's aides were told by members of the family.

WOMAN SHOOTS SELF

Miss Pearl Woods, 27, of 1875 Lynn avenue, Turtle Creek, fired a bullet through her head in her home and was dead when members of the household reached her, according to the coroner's report. Miss Woods, a cripple, had been in failing health, it was reported.

Joseph Jablonski, 71, of McKees Rocks, an inmate at the county home at Woodville, slashed his throat with a razor and died a short time later, according to the coroner's office.

Nautilus Leader Hopes to Reach Bergen Saturday; Encounters Good Weather

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS

Commander of the Wilkins-Ellsworth Trans-Arctic Submarine Expedition. (Wireless via American Radio News Corporation and Radiomarine Corporation.)

ABOARD SUBMARINE NAUTILUS, En Route to Bergen, Norway, July 30.—Except slight trouble from our exhaust valves leaking—now remedied—the Nautilus made a splendid run yesterday, the second day out of Devonport on the second preliminary stage of our voyage to the North Pole. We hope to reach Bergen Saturday.

We passed Dover at 9 a. m. Greenwich mean time (5 a. m. eastern daylight time). Dover's white cliffs stood out boldly two miles away, and we could see the coast of France on our other side.

The weather has been clear and exceptionally calm since we left Devonport, but it was blowing at night. At 6 p. m. the bright sunshine left us and it became misty with rain at times.

We averaged 12 knots in the calm sea, but the Nautilus slowed up as the sea got higher. The total distance covered at nightfall from Eddystone light was 300 miles.

All our crew is busy with one thing or another. We do not expect to submerge until reaching Bergen although with the 14 cylinders of oxygen and 3,000 pounds of lime aboard we could remain under the water for four days, if it were found necessary.

Moore, Cox Seen As '32 Candidates

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP.)—The name of Harry Moore, Democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey, was mentioned as a "strong competitor" for the Democratic nomination for President by James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic Senator from Illinois, in an interview today.

Former Gov. Cox, of Ohio, once a candidate of the Democrats for President, also was mentioned by Senator Lewis as a possible candidate.

Snowdon Warns Of British Deficit

LONDON, July 30.—(INS.)—A solemn warning that Britain faces a serious budget deficit unless economies are effected was sounded by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, in a speech in the House of Commons today.

The chancellor, however, took occasion to scout reports that Britain was facing bankruptcy.

BROKER HOLDS MELON PARTY

Thousands of persons were the guests of Leo G. Altmayer, produce broker, at his twelfth annual watermelon party, held yesterday at Leech Farm, Washington boulevard. The party was in observance of Altmayer's birthday. The guests included physicians and nurses of all city hospitals, city and county officials, and 16,000 inmates of 89 institutions.

Parties for the latter were given at the institutions, making a total of 89 parties on the same night.

Dandelion Bounty For Poor Leaves Park in Ruins

DENVER, Col., July 30.—(AP.)—Denver's offer to unemployed of 5 cents a pound for dandelions dug from city parks has been withdrawn. It stood 12 hours.

Seven hundred men, women and children arrived at one park at dawn yesterday, many in expensive automobiles, and went after the scattered yellow flowers. More earth with each root meant quicker poundage—which resulted in a battle-scarred area where before there were green slopes.

FAGAN ATTACK HELD HOLDUP

Pat Murphy, slain in a battle with Patrick T. Fagan, president of District 5, United Mine Workers, and his companion, Edward Schneider, alias Hatfield, now held by police, were identified today as holdup men.

As a result, Police Lieut. Frank Ferris discounted the theory that Murphy had planned to assassinate Fagan when he pulled a gun on the mine chief at the latter's home at 822 Woodbourne avenue.

The identifications were made by Joseph Johnston and Royce Earlewein, of 2710 Market street, Wheeling, who, Ferris said, told him the holdup in which they were robbed of $111, July 20, paralleled the attempt on Fagan.

Schneider, Ferris said, admitted the Wheeling holdup, but said Murphy claimed he got only $69. Police said they learned also that Schneider has previously served 10 months in the workhouse here for running a car over a hill, and that Murphy had a record in Texas.

Hurls Clock Through Restaurant Window

L. E. Keister, 59, of Leland street, police said, hurled an alarm clock through the window of a restaurant at 308 Federal street, early today. Keister, charged with being a suspicious person, was lodged in North Side Police Stations. Damage was estimated at $50. Keister was fined $25 or 30 days in jail in North Side Police Court.

Bomb Discovered At Guard Station

TRIESTE, Italy, July 30.—(AP.)—An explosive bomb was found attached to the outside of a window of the frontier guard station in the village of Mattengna Monday, the newspaper Popolo Triesta says today. It was suspeneded in such a way as to explode if the window was opened.

Claimant Fires On Office Workers

ALBANY, N. Y., July 30.—(AP.)—Frightened office workers dashed for safety as Michael Gelgiaccio, 33, a displeased claimant for compensation, fired five shots into the walls of a corridor in the New York State Office Building here today. None was hurt.

River Conditions.

Showers occurred over Eastern Pennsylvania and eastward to the coast, and there were also showers over the Upper Mississippi Valley and westward over the northern states to the Pacific coast. There were also scattered showers over the Gulf states. There is considerable cloudiness over the Ohio Valley states and the Lake region, but no rainfall. High pressure covers the southeastern states and a ridge extends northwestward over the Ohio Valley states to another center over the Canadian Northwest. The low that prevailed the previous 24 hours in the East is now in the far Northeast and pressure is relatively low over the Rocky Mountain states. Maximum temperatures were about the same as the preceding day over the Ohio Valley states and over the central plains they were from 4 to 8 degrees higher. The highest reported was 104 degrees at Keokuk, Ia. The weather will continue warm over this section, but the temperature will not be extremely high, due to cloudiness.

WOMAN FORGER GETS 5 YEARS

Helen Marsich, 28, of 328 Helen street, McKees Rocks, was sentenced to from one to five years in the work house by Judge James H. Gray in Criminal Court this morning. Miss Marich pleaded guilty to conspiracy and forgery.

Joe Krukowe, 40, of 1218 Reedsdale street, was paroled for two years. Kruokowe and Miss Marsich were arrested July 7 on complaint of a mortgage broker that they attempted to place an $8,000 mortgage on the property of Ivan Solotek, 1234 East Ohio street, North Side, by having Krukowe represent himself as Solotek. Miss Marsich was to sign the mortgage as a witness.

Krukowe, who does not speak English, pleaded that he was the "innocent dupe" of the woman, and was not to get a cent from the transaction. Miss Marsich also pleaded guilty to passing two forged checks on department stores.

SENTENCED YEARS AFTER GUILTY PLEA

Son of Republican Leader Escapes Any Parole; Delay Blamed on Other Cases

More than three years after Mike De Rosa, Jr., son of the Twelfth Ward Republi leader, pleaded guilty to violating the election laws, he appeared in court today and was fined $150.

De Rosa at present is a candidate for the Republican nomination for alderman in the Twelfth Ward.

De Rosa's fine grew out of election charges made in connection with balloting in the Ninth District of the Twelfth Ward, where he served as election judge, in 1927.

TWO FINED

Catherine Ditolla, majority inspector, and John Cappuoccianni, minority inspector of the Ninth District, were fined $50 each in the same case.

Judge Harry H. Rowand did not attach the two-year parole, which prohibited approximately 500 other election officials convicted or pleading guilty in 1927 election cases from serving on election boards during that time.

He accepted the plea of Congressman Harry A. Estep, De Rosa's counsel, that the three had not served on boards since they pleaded guilty in April, 1928.

Two clerks, serving on the indicted board, have not been apprehended.

Questioned yesterday as to why De Rosa's case had not been completed, District Attorney Andrew T. Park said it probably would not be heard until September, as another case had grown out of it, and De Rosa was needed as a witness for the second trial.

PARK EXPLAINS

Today Park said:

"We informed Judge Rowand the case was ready for disposition either yesterday or the day before. I did not think he would be able to act upon it until September.

"He was in his chambers today, however, and asked that De Rosa and the others be brought before him."

De Rosa's defense to the charge of negligence of an election officer's duties, the charge on which all three were sentenced, was that he left the polling place at 3 a. m., the day after election, to attend church, and that any tampering with the ballots which was committed, was done during his absence.

Name Embarrasses, Seeks to Change I

Alleging his name would cause him embarrassment socially and in business because of the difficulty in pronouncing it, Stanislaus Bieganski, of Bridgeville, graduate of the Homestead High School, asked Judge James H. Gray in Common Pleas Court for permission to change it to Stanley Bergan, by which name he said he is known.

Wilkinsburg Youth Held in Auto Theft

Charged with the theft of an automobile from Harry Hahn, Auburn motor car salesman, during a demonstration on William Penn highway, Peter Sando, 17, of Wilkinsburg, was under arrest in Mercer. State police captured the youth a few hours after he is alleged to have forced Hahn from the machine at the point of a revolver.

Employe Fractures Skull in Plant Fall

Fred Arnold, 66, of 29 Miltenberger street, suffered fractures of the skull and back when he fell into the basement of the plant of P. Duff & Sons, Inc., at 928 Duquesne way, yesterday. Arnold, an employe, was walking in the yard when he fell down an opening into the cellar, according to police.

Bandits Gag Victim, Escape With $100

The youthful bandits escaped with $100 last night after locking Leroy Benny, proprietor of a gasoline service station at Camp Joann, Westmoreland County, in a room behind his office.

Benny, in a report to state police, said the youths bound his hands with tape and gagged him.

Bishop Suspends Rector Divorced by Wife

CAMDEN, N. J., July 30.—(INS.)—The Rev. Dr. Camille Estornelle, formerly pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church here, whose wife was granted a degree of divorce last week, has been suspended indefinitely from the Episcopal ministry, it was announced here today by the Rt. Rev. Paul Matthews, bishop of the New Jersey diocese of the Episcopal church.

The suspension of Dr. Estornelle is an aftermath of the charges made by his wife, Mrs. Florence Hahn Estornelle, in her divorce suit before William B. Knight, advisory master in chancery.

Walter S. Keown, counsel for Dr. Estornelle, said an appeal against the divorce decision is to be filed. He also said the minister's suspension was at Dr. Estornelle's own request "to prevent any embarrassment to the bishop." Bishop Matthews declined to discuss Keown's statement.

PAPERS SERVED BY VANDERBILT

RENO, Nev., July 30.—(INS)—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., has had his wife, Mrs. Mary Weir Vanderbilt, served with divorce papers, it was learned today.

This action was expected to throw the entire proceedings into court a week from Monday when it is docketed, or to result in an immediate property settlement that is agreeable to the Vanderbilt heir.

The Vanderbilt marital difficulties reached a head recently when Vanderbilt chased Peter Arno, New York artist, down a street with an empty gun, for alleged attentions paid Mrs. Vanderbilt. This incident was not mentioned in the suits for divorce when filed, it was said, but may be aired if the case reaches the courtroom.

Button, button, who's got the Button?

YOU remember this childhood game, of course. All of your contemporaries lined up in a circle with you in the middle. One of them had the coveted button, and it was up to you to pick out that one.

Everyone held his hands behind him; everyone wanted you to believe he had the button. And what efforts were made to sell you! What rolling of eyes, what giggling, what looks of importance, what looks of innocence, what attempts to mystify you! ALL pretended, but only ONE really had the button.

The August Furniture Sales now in progress must make you think of this childhood game. Every store that has a stick of furniture is holding an August Sale. It is the only month in the year, outside of February, that you are aware of the existence of some of these "stores" and "departments."

But August and its reputation as a Furniture Month gives them such a chance to strut, and to drag one of the finest businesses in the world through a mire of sensational advertising claims!

Now, Spear & Company is a name that has been associated with furniture for 38 years. The store is the largest by far, in Pittsburgh, and ranks with the largest-in-the-world furniture institutions. Spear's annual sales approximate fifteen millions of dollars, probably more than all the other Pittsburgh furniture stores and departments combined.

Spear's advertises and sells furniture every day in the year. Nearly a thousand people are employed in its Pittsburgh stores. Customers are numbered in the hundreds of thousands.

Spear's day-in, day-out values sell millions worth of furniture annually. Spear buyers are in the markets all the time. Spear stocks are constantly moving OUT into the homes of Pittsburgh and the surrounding towns. NEW stocks are constantly moving in so that Spear's stores always resemble a great Furniture Style Show.

Yet, Spear's is having an August Sale—the greatest, the most important in the history of the Company.

And, you are right! The store that has the button in August is the store that has it EVERY DAY in the year. The store that has the greatest values in August is the store that has them every day in the year . . . the store that advertises and sells furniture every one of the 12 months, is the store that has the reliable savings for you in August, and in Pittsburgh, that store is

SPEAR'S

Now you know who has the button.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

"Sweet Mystery of Life"

(Reprinted by Request.)

THIS COLUMN'S favorite song—and maybe yours, too—is Victor Herbert's "Sweet Mystery of Life." Whenever that number is played I sit back and enjoy it—regardless whether it is rendered by Paul Whiteman's orchestra or by a cheap combination in a dingy speakeasy.

I know I'm not alone because Mickey Walker, ex-middleweight champion of the world, feels the same way about it.

Mickey Walker is about 28 years old. So it can't be more than 10 or 11 years or so ago that he was just one of the kids in Elizabeth, New Jersey.

He went to school. He had a few girl friends. He had a few boy friends. He was young and didn't give much thought to the future.

There were parties, of course. One or two of the girls permitted him to hold their hands. The rest of them merely accepted him as one of the mob and let it go at that. After all, he wasn't the best looking boy in the neighborhood by several million miles.

There was a best looking boy. There generally is. He answered to the name of Joe, and he was about three years older than Mickey Walker. When a party took place the girls gathered around him like the flappers around Rudy Vallee.

For, in addition to his looks, Joe had a voice. During a party, when the demands grew insistent enough, Joe would sing. And then, if a truly pretty damsel requested, Joe would give them "Sweet Mystery of Life."

When Joe sang "Sweet Mystery of Life," it was Mickey Walker's happiest moment. It made him yearn for things that were very vague.

Mickey Walker envied Joe. To him Joe represented everything that was wonderful in life. Joe worked and always had money in his pocket. Joe had plenty of girls. Joe was handsome. And Joe's voice was a thing of beauty.

Sweet mystery of life! Powerful words. Strange words. And Mickey wondered. Would he ever be as well liked as Joe? Would he some day be a popular favorite in the neighborhood? Would he ever amount to anything in this world?

In his heart, he doubted it.

Let's draw the curtain over a period of years and carry Mickey Walker to San Francisco just about a year ago.

He had entered the fight game and succeeded. He became welterweight champion, lost his title and then fought his way back to victory in an even higher class.

During his career Mickey made some very foolish moves. People who don't make mistakes aren't quite human.

One of Mickey Walker's greatest failings is the fact that he has a great fondness for late hours and night life. Unless he is in strict training for a fight, he is pretty sure to wind up the evening in some sort of a club.

At any rate, we find Mickey Walker in Frisco about a year ago. It is around 2 in the morning and Mickey is seated at a table in one of the lowest dives on the Barbary Coast.

With Mickey at the time is Jack Kearns, his dapper manager, and two damsels of uncertain age. One was a big film star in the days of Pearl White and Maurice Costello. The other was also a film player of some note in her day.

Kearns filled three glasses with his customary Scotch. The fourth glass stayed empty. Walker wasn't drinking.

"Say, kid," said Kearns to the ex-film luminary, "tell us something about yourself. What are you doing in a dump like this?"

"Why ask me, Jack!" she returned. "You're one of the mob and you know the racket. I had a guy I loved and when he croaked, I just hit the chutes. Booze did it as much as anything, I guess.

"This joint is full of creepy things," she continued. "See the leader of that bum orchestra? He was a pretty big guy in New York once. Sure. Use to lead a band in the swellest gyp joint on Broadway."

The place was growing smokier by the minute. Walker arose and asked the leader to play "Sweet Mystery of Life." The leader shook his head.

"Haven't played it in years," he stated. "My memory's not as good as it used to be."

One of the waiters stepped out.

"I'll sing it," he muttered. "You follow me."

The waiter began to sing, softly. Beautifully.

"Ah, sweet mystery of life,
At last I've found you."

The cafe grew quiet. Walker closed his eyes. Wait! Something about that voice. Something familiar.

It was Joe! The man who had been his ideal in earlier days!

When the song was over, the waiter walked to Mickey Walker's table.

"You recognized me, Mickey?"

"Yes, Joe, it must be 10 years since I saw you. What are you doing—

"Don't ask me any questions. Mickey got into a little jam and had to come out West. Can I ask a favor?"

Walker nodded.

"Just forget that you saw me," said Joe quietly. "There are a couple of folks back home that wouldn't be too happy. And I want them to forget me."

Walker shook hands with Joe. He leaned back in his chair. The woman at his side plucked at his lapel. She was very drunk now.

"Shay, kid," she hiccoughed, "don't you get high hat wit' me. You're a good fighter right now—but tha' don't mean you always gonna be.

"Didja jus' hear that song, 'Sweet Mystery of Life'? Well, that orta be a lesson to you. You gotta wash your step, get me? We don't always stay the way we once were."

Mickey Walker looked at the wreck of the woman who had once been a star. Then he looked at the back of the waiter who had once been his ideal. And he shook his head slowly.

"I know it, lady," he murmured quietly. "I know it very well." . . .

COUNTY WASTE ASSAILED BY M'GOVERN

Commissioner Starts Drive For Re-election; Explains Criticisms of Colleagues

In announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination to succeed himself, County Commissioner C. C. McGovern issued a statement, which follows, in part:

"As one of the county commissioners during the administration now coming to a close, I earnestly endeavored to secure for the people of Allegheny County a serviceable and economical administration of their county affairs.

ACTIVE CONSTRUCTION

"My continued criticism of the policies of the other two commissioners were not made captiously or for any reason other than the public benefit. The opposition to the existing order has been of a constructive nature.

"Therefore I offer my candidacy for renomination as county commissioner in the hope that my efforts for results and criticisms for the present methods of conducting the county business may be translated into constructive action for the general public good.

"For several years, the administration of the county's Department of Public Works has been autocratic, wasteful and incompetent. Autocratic in that public interests and demands were subordinated to the whims of the engineers and private interests. Wasteful in that public improvements were planned without regard to costs or future needs. Incompetent, in that improvements exceeded estimated costs or were based on faulty estimates.

COLOSSAL BLUNDERS

"The colossal blundering of county engineers was thoroughly exemplified in the construction of the Allegheny River boulevard. Here, a project costing $3,500,000 was carried to a point of completion without any consideration as to how to build around or over the pumping station of the Pennsylvania Water Company at Nadine.

"Plans were made and the construction carried on without regard to the attitude of the water company or the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and without procuring legal agreements as to the necessary right-of-way.

"To rectify this blunder, the county engineers, on September 5, 1930, estimated the sum of $584,290 was necessary. Nothing has been done to remedy the situation and the county has a 60-foot boulevard on either side of the pumping station connected by a narrow 16-foot road past the station, a dangerous traffic hazard. Such engineering botches are inexcusable from any standpoint.

AIRPORT COSTS

"The county airport is another striking example of the glaring incompetency and extravagance of the present system. The original estimate of the cost of this project was $2,000,000. Today the cost has mounted to $3,500,000 and the end is not in sight.

"Of the original $2,000,000 estimate, the sum of $1,250,000 was spent for leveling the site of the port. The contract for the leveling was let, not to the lowest bidder, who bid 29 cents a cubic yard, but went to the third bidder, a company that bid 48 cents a cubic yard and which then sublet the contract to others for 29 cents a cubic yard, the amount of the low bid.

"Thus a velvet profit of 19 cents a cubic yard, or a total sum of $534,850, was obtained by the contractor through the action of the other two commissioners.

"The airport should be completed within a reasonable time, but further appropriations of public moneys should be held in abeyance until the people are given something for the money already spent or appropriated.

SHERIFF SALES

"Sheriff sales for taxes are mounting only too fast. With our bonding power greatly reduced, with more than 30 cents of every tax dollar going for bond interest or retirement and with our millage less than a mill short of our constitutional limit, outside the city, the county will soon be forced to operate within its current revenue.

"As a medium to end this orgy of extravagance, which has increased far in advance of the growth of the county in the last eight years, I submit my candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Commissioner in the coming primaries and, if elected, in concert with sympathetic colleagues, I will do my level best to justify the confidence reposed in me."

Flanagan Seeks County Bench Seat

Attorney Martin A. Flanagan has announced his candidacy in the Republican primaries for nomination for one of the four places on the County Court Bench to be filled at next fall's election. He stated in part:

"Since the County Court is a human institution, it cannot be perfect. There are improvements which can and will be made by an honest, energetic and conscientious administration of the law. Now is the time for the electors to choose their judges for their efficiency and justice promoting qualities."

POLITICS NEAR BOILING POINT

nary in an effort to capture the two majority commissionerships.

LINKED WITH MANSFIELD

State Senator William D. Mansfield recently announced his candidacy for county commissioner without any reference to his alliances and unofficial slatemakers immediately linked him with McGovern if the latter entered the primary.

There seems little doubt now that McGovern and Mansfield will be running mates on an "Independent" ticket that will include present county officials who won their spurs under the leadership of former State Senator M. G. Leslie.

Deputy Attorney General Ralph H. Smith probably will be slated by the Independents for district attorney, and Henry Tranter, businessman and civic leader, for county treasurer.

To date no candidate to oppose City Controller James P. Kerr's fight for re-election has materialized. There was some talk that the "Independents" were wooing County Treasurer John Francies to oppose Kerr. Francies will not discuss the subject.

AGREEMENT REPORTED

One report, apparently authentic, was that Armstrong held a secret conference with six or seven of his chief lieutenants on Saturday and told them that he and Coyne were to be the organization candidates. He is reported to have said:

"I'm going the way and do what the boss wants me to. Coyne will be my running mate. If I am defeated, it means that you fellows are out, too."

Many of Armstrong's closest aides are strong anti-Coyne men.

Among those at the Saturday conference, it was said, were Luke Sullivan, brother of Congressman P. J. Sullivan, a leader of "The Strip" voters; Robert Murray, a power in the North Side, and John J. Cavanaugh, bureau of Homestead.

If the Armstrong-Coyne hook-up materializes, the ticket probably would include Sheriff Cain for county treasurer; Councilman Harry A. Little for register of wills and J. Scott Morgan, former registration commissioner, for clerk of courts. Candidates for other offices have not been publicly announced.

John Douglas was elected clerk of courts in 1919 after a campaign that proved him to be one of the most popular candidates ever to be elected in Allegheny County. In 1921 he announced for mayor but withdrew shortly thereafter, leaving the field to Joseph N. Markrell and William A. Magee.

KERR LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN FOR RE-ELECTION

City Controller Submits Record in Office as His Best Recommendation

Controller James P. Kerr, in announcing his candidacy in the Republican primary for the nomination to succeed himself as city controller, declared in part:

"Without solicitation on my part, I was chosen city controller to fill the vacancy caused by the death of my lifelong friend, Daniel Winters, to serve until after the next election. This election is approaching.

POINTS TO RECORD

"The 15 months during which I have been city controller have been eventful ones. I have embarked upon a program of complete reorganization of the office and the task is incomplete. Therefore, I have decided to offer myself as a candidate for the elective term and submit my name in the primaries.

"My record in public office is well-known to the people of Pittsburgh. In 1911, when the affairs of the city became so critical that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania reorganized our form of government, I was appointed from private life by the Governor as a member of the original Council of Nine.

ASSERTS INDEPENDENCE

"I was elected to Council by the people of Pittsburgh twice and served for seven years, during which time the whole affairs of the city were reorganized and placed upon a new basis.

"At the time of the World War I voluntarily severed my connection with the city and enlisted as a surgeon in the United States Army.

"I have followed an independent course in all my years in public office. My future in public life, whatever it may be, will be along the same line."

TERRELL CLUB STATES VIEWS

The Robert H. Terrell Law Club has adopted a resolution pledging the organization to solicit votes for only those candidates that are willing to subscribe to the following:

At least one Negro member on the Board of Education and Negro teachers in public schools.

A Negro assistant district attorney.

More Negro clerical and other representatives in the city and county offices.

A Negro judge in a court of record.

Negro tipstaves and more Negro investigators in courts of record.

Recognition of merit of Negro men in the police bureau in cases of promotion.

Negro student nurses and interns in state and federal supported hospitals and medical schools.

Election of a Negro alderman and constable in the Fifth Ward, Pittsburgh.

VOTE MACHINES DISPLAY LISTED

Gilbert C. Cloonan, chief of the County Election Bureau, has announced that demonstration of voting machines will be held this week and next at the following locations:

South Side Carnegie Library, Carson and Twenty-second streets, between 1 and 3 p. m., and 7:30 to 10 p. m., Friday, and August 1 and 3. Locations for demonstrations for other South Side sections will be announced in the near future.

Twentieth Ward, office of Alderman Joyce, 324 South Main street, between 7:30 and 10 p. m., August 4, 5 and 6.

Twenty-second Ward—Y. M. C. A. Building, North avenue, west of Monterey street, between 7:30 and 10 p. m., from Friday, until August 6 inclusive.

Homestead Municipal Building, between 7:30 and 10 p. m., Friday, and August 3 and 5, and between 2 and 10 p. m., Saturday and August 4 and 6.

Shreaden, 3020 Chartiers avenue, between 7:30 and 10 p. m., Friday, Saturday and August 3.

Judge Assails Petitions To Transfer Polls

Judge James H. Gray took a vigorous verbal slap at politicians suspected of attempting to have polling places shifted from the buildings assigned them by the Redistricting Commission in its recently completed survey, as he took 15 petitions for such transfers under consideration.

The petitions were submitted by F. W. Ittel, an assistant county solicitor.

Judge Gray said:

"I'm against changing polling places fixed by the Redistricting Commission just to suit some politician.

"I'm going to have every one of these petitions investigated and you will have to show good cause for each change or I will not order it.

"I don't see why we paid out all that money to the Redistricting Commission for doing this work and then have to change it all now."

Ittel answered:

"Well, I'm here for County Solicitor Lesher, who was a member of the commission, and he has approved all of these changes."

Judge Gray, observing that several petitions stated the changes were sought because the places recommended by the Redistricting Commission were not large enough to allow the use of voting machines, asked:

"Is there any great likelihood that we will have those machines for these elections?"

To which Ittel replied:

"We have 25 now and 'they' say we are going to get them."

Krall Arranges Wajert Meeting

Dr. E. S. Krall, chairman of a committee of 300 men and women working in the interest of Stephen R. Wajert's candidacy for the Republican nomination for alderman of the Seventeenth Ward, has arranged a mass meeting to advance the latter's campaign August 11 in Odd Fellows Hall, South Eighteenth and Sarah streets. The candidate is aged 29, and lives at 1723 Sidney street.

Judge Soffel Will Speak Over Radio

Judge Sara M. Soffel, only woman judge in the County Court of Allegheny County, will inaugurate next Monday a series of broadcasts over KDKA. Each Monday at 11:45 a. m. Judge Soffel will go on the air to acquaint the public with the work done in the County Court.

Judge Soffel now is presiding over Juvenile Court and will tell the radio audience about some of the interesting problems and cases that come before that court.

Too Hot for Hot Tamales, Ban Vendors

PEORIA, Ill., July 29.—(AP)—Hot, hot, hot tamales!

This cry of the vendors is just too much for Peorians trying to keep their minds off the heat.

So the City Council granted a petition, asking that police halt tamale sales in residential districts.

Wife Dead, Crowd Threatens Miner

COLUMBUS, Kan., July 29.—(AP)—Frank Lime, 51, coal miner, was held in the county jail here today pending investigation into the death of his wife at their home in Scammon.

Mrs. Lime, 50, was found dead last night after neighbors had heard her screaming for help. Death had been caused by a deep gash in her forehead.

Lime was rushed to jail here when Scammon citizens threatened lynching.

Shower Maintains July 29 Tradition In Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 30.—History repeated itself yesterday when a Waynesburg tradition that it always rains here on July 29 was fulfilled as result of a half hour shower at 3:30 p. m.

It was the 37th year that weather conditions have been observed here on this date and only twice in that period carefully maintained records show has it failed to rain for at least a short time.

DARROW'S FILM UNDER PROTEST

DAYTON, Tenn., July 30.—(AP)—The Ministerial Association of Dayton, the scene a few years ago of Tennessee's famous anti-evolution trial, has called upon the local theater to ban the showing of Clarence Darrow's film, "The Mystery of Life."

Darrow was a principal figure in the trial, defending John T. Scopes, who taught the theory of evolution in the public schools in defiance to state law.

In resolutions adopted by the pastors, protest was registered against the showing of what they termed "an anti-Biblical and anti-Christian picture," and the people of Dayton were asked not to attend the showing of the film.

2 FLEEING JAIL, CAPTURED

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 30.—(AP)—Two or three long term prisoners who escaped from the Massachusetts state prison at Charlestown yesterday after beating and stabbing a guard were captured by Cambridge police early today. They were Thomas Gilpatrick and Hugh Quigley. Ernest A. Abbott, third member of the trio, was sought in nearby Somerville.

Quigley was in the rear seat of a stolen automobile changing from his prison garb into a suit of clothes stolen from a Cambridge cleansing shop when officers arrested him. Gilpatrick was at the wheel of the car.

Rain-Soaked Walls Fall, Trap Miners

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—(INS)—Diggers were working feverishly today in an attempt to rescue miners imprisoned in gold mines at El Tabor, according to messages received in Mexico City.

Tunnels in several mines collapsed yesterday as the result of recent heavy rains. It was feared that many lives would be lost unless diggers reached the closed chambers within a short time.

Today

in all the 50 years, not excepting recent boom years.

In addition to having the goods, he really ADVERTISED them.

PRESIDENT HOOVER continues to protest against reduction in wages, particularly among laborers, mechanics, and others engaged in industry.

Their payrolls represent the backbone of national prosperity, thousands of millions of dollars a year.

The United States Steel Company, reducing dividends and salaries, respects President Hoover's wishes as regards labor in the mills, but cuts the salaries of the clerical force.

THE EXAMPLE was followed yesterday afternoon by the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, first of the big railroads to make wholesale pay cuts. Ten per cent is cut off of every salary, from the president, Mr. Loree, down to the division superintendents. This has not happened on that railroad since 1877.

TWO ITALIAN children, Anna Maria, 2 years old, and her brother, Romano, did yesterday, in Rome, what Goethe would have called das unbeschriebliche. They tweaked the ears of Mussolini 48 times, something that nobody else has ever done, even once.

Mussolini is their father; it was his forty-eighth birthday, and it is the birthday custom in Italy to tweak the ear once for each year of life.

HOW FREE FROM any "tweaking" Mussolini's career has been since he marched on Rome and took control of Italy's government.

A great war makes all men feel unsure, uncertain. When one steps out, knowing exactly what he wants, putting his will ahead of organized government, he succeeds, at least FOR AWHILE. Stalin proves it in Russia, Kemal in Turkey, Mussolini in Italy.

RUMORS THAT the Bank of England has been trying to borrow $100,000,000 from the Banque de France annoy the British government.

The rumors are called "an attempt to undermine the British reputation in the world."

However, in the war, when money was really hard to get, Britain lent not millions but BILLIONS to France and the other allies.

For France to lend $100,000,000 to England now would seem reasonable, but not probable.

COSMOPOLITAN POLICY STANDS

NEW YORK, July 30.—(Universal)—John R. Hearst, general manager of Cosmopolitan Magazine, announced today that, in the appointment of Harry Payne Burton as editor, effective October 1, there will be no change in Cosmopolitan editorial policy, Mr. Hearst said.

"We will continue to spare no expense, effort, care, thought, time and attention to get and to print exclusively what is universally recognized as the best in fiction, features and art throughout the world."

In the selection of Mr. Burton as the new editor of Cosmopolitan the Hearst management has called on one already experienced as a Hearst editor. After withdrawing from the editorship of McCall's magazine, Mr. Burton, who has been editor of Physical Culture and consulting editor of Liberty, served for a considerable period as editor of Hearst newspaper fiction. He is noted for his contacts with brilliant authors and for his ability to get them to bring him their best work.

Autoists Beat Youth Who Accepted Ride

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 30.—(AP)—James Miller, 21, of Morgantown, W. Va., was brought to a hospital here suffering from injuries he said were inflicted by motorists who had offered him a ride and then attempted to rob him. He was found along a highway near here.

80,000 TICKETS TO BE GIVEN FOR OUTING

Coupon Good for 8 Park Amusements to Appear in Saturday's Sun-Telegraph

The Sun-Telegraph has completed arrangements to entertain 10,000 boys and girls at West View Park Tuesday. Ten thousand strips of free tickets for the rides and amusement devices will be distributed.

Here's how to get the tickets: In Saturday's issue of The Sun-Telegraph there will be a coupon printed. Fill out one of these coupons and paste it on a strip of card board. Include the Greetings of Mother Goose Round Table Club. Participants in this contest are to bring the coupon and card to the Sun-Telegraph

This is a part of the National Kiddie Day and is a procession of floats from the rides to be prepared for the occasion. Besides the radio musicians and players of the park and take charge of the parade, contest. There will also be a test for the best-looking boys and girls. The Four Aces of Comedy will be a big card for the kiddies. Don't miss the coupon in Saturday's Sun-Telegraph.

Plain Girls Make Best Marriages Because They Are Sensible, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

Show business being what it is just now, many pretty and talented actresses have had to take temporary positions in the business world to tide them over the slump.

One who is my friend was telling me not long ago that what impressed her in the store where she is now working, is that most of the women who can come in and buy what they want and have charge accounts and cars and fine homes are of the plain type.

"They make the best marriages after all."

Why do plain girls make the best marriages?

Because they are not inclined to flirtation, or too romantic about love and impossible ideals.

They are usually sensible, and aim to make a success of their home.

Restless Business Suit

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I want to ask you if it is proper for a gentleman in his business suit to go without a vest? MRS. W.

No, this isn't proper.

Household Hints

If silver pieces have became scratched buy a small quantity of putty powder at the chemists and put into a saucer with enough olive oil to make a paste. Rub this paste on the silver with a soft rag, then polish it with a chamois leather. The scratches will become invisible.

Did you know that there are some very definite reasons for thoroughly rinsing clothes. Here are a few of them. Soap combined with bluing will cause rust spots. Inferior soap combined with starch make the clothes an ugly yellow. If washing soda, borax or some soap should be used to help loosen the dirt and it is not thoroughly rinsed out the heat of the iron will weaken the fiber of the material.

The Beauty Box

The halo coiffure is attracting attention. It is a sort of ghost of the old high haindress. To possess it one needs a bob of shoulder length. A wave line runs directly around the head, the hair being brushed straight back from the forehead straight up from the nape of the neck, the ends folded in on the crown of the head. A band of tortoise shell rests in the first wave line. Like the hair ribbon worn by Alice whose trip to wonderland has delighted millions of readers.

Untidiness in a woman is a beauty crime. A raggedy unkempt coiffure slams her straight back into wall-flower row. Run-over shoes index her as one who suffers from her own neglect. Stockings with seam twisted or folds at the ankle are a shock to the fastidious eye. Looking smart and sassy keeps a woman's spirits and nose in the air. That's good for what ails most of us. Scrubby clothes beget scrubby feelings. One's appearance has a psychological effect upon the mind and the physical being. No woman can afford to lag behind the beauty race. Won't do.

Sane Dieting Is the Safest Way to Reduce

A fat child is often the subject of much unnecessary ridicule and abuse. The fear that "no one loves a fat man" is grossly exaggerated. Most stout persons I have encountered have much more winning and pleasing personalities than many of their lean brothers.

But as these individuals grow older, they are likely to become quite sensitive about their stoutness. It is not surprising. I am sure that they are willing to resort to almost any method that has in it the hope of fewer pounds of weight.

Recently, there has been great carelessness in the use of thyroid extract. It is true that under some circumstances thyroid gland products cause a marked reduction in weight. But the use of such drugs materially increases the heat production of the body. This places an undesirable strain on the heart and blood vessels.

At a recent gathering of the American College of Physicians, a warning was issued against the unwise treatment of obesity by thyroid products. At this meeting of eminent physicians, it was decided that stout people can safely and just as easily reduce by proper dieting.

The general public mind is warned against the use of this medicine as a quick means of reducing. Whatever loss of weight the body undergoes should be brought about in a gradual manner. Sudden and rapid loss of poundage is decidedly detrimental. Often great harm is accomplished by this undesirable method of reducing.

The excessive eating of sweets and pastries and of munching between meals must be avoided. Likewise, those who are overweight are not encouraged to go on a rigid fasting diet. In many respects, this is just as harmful as the administration of thyroid.

By a decrease in the amount of food consumed, there is reduction in the weight without harm or strain. This results in less heat production. On such a diet the heavy person tires out less easily and is fully satisfied with his food. His comfortable feeling encourages him to persist in his sane efforts to reduce.

Reduction in weight by means of proper eating is a slow process, but it is the safest. It can only be accomplished by persistence and care. It may take a considerable time, but you will be assured of maintaining reduced weight if you persist in this method.

PROPOSE JOINT BUS TERMINAL

A centralized bus terminal at the Federal Street Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad was discussed at an organization meeting of the North Side Civic Council in the office of B. B. Crooks, president of Boggs & Buhl, yesterday. The plan would eliminate intercity buses from streets in the triangle. It is estimated that more than 2,000 intercity buses enter and leave Pittsburgh daily.

Removal of buses from the business section has been approved by members of the City Planning Commission and the Citizens Committee on City Planning.

HEIRS CONTEST WIDOW'S DEEDS

The Rev. James C. Hennelly, parish priest of Cong, County Mayo, Ireland, and five residents of Counties Mayo and Galway are co-plaintiffs with Andrew J. Conroy, of Pittsburgh, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, seeking to nullify deeds to two pieces of property claimed by Mrs. Anna M. Conroy, of McKees Rocks.

The properties were owned by her husband, Michael J. Conroy, who died in the Mercy Hospital, April 12, 1930. The suit charges that by undue influence she procured the execution of deeds by her husband a week before his death, with the intent of defrauding him. The legacies ranged from [illegible] plaintiffs of legacies totaling [illegible] $250 to $2,000.

HARD SAUCE TASTES GREAT ON A FRESH GREEN APPLE PIE

Even in warm weather a green apple pie fresh from the oven is most appealing. And if you want to make it taste extra good, put a spoonful of hard sauce on top of each cut. Just cream together 2 cup butter and 2 cups powdered sugar. When smooth, beat in 1 teaspoon vanilla.

In all kinds of cookery where a sweetening ingredient is needed, remember that refined cane sugar is the recognized standard. The Sugar Institute.

Swimming Classes Stressed at 'Y' For Girls Who Will Remain In Town During Summer

The Central Branch of the Young Woman's Christian Association will make the remainder of the summer attractive for those remaining in town during the summer days.

The branch will conduct swimming classes throughout the summer on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5:30 and 7:30 o'clock, with intermediate instruction at 6:30 o'clock on the same days.

There'll be beginners' classes for children on Tuesdays and Saturdays at 10 o'clock on the morning. And throughout the summer business girls may swim from 11:30 to 1:30 on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Those wishing semi-private lessons in tennis and private instruction in tap and social dancing may make arrangements.

GIRLS TO LEAVE FOR CAMP

Two hundred and ten girls with their counsellors will leave Pittsburgh Monday morning, August 3, for a 12-day stay at the Emma Kaufmann Camp at Harmony, Pa. The group is in charge of Anna B. Heidman, of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, and Mrs. Anna I. Pelle, head girls' counselor. Julia P. Teller is camp director.

More than 1,000 children and mothers will be given a 12-day vacation at the Emma Kaufmann Camp this summer.

Mothers of kindergarten children in the Irene Kaufmann summer play school will be guests of Miss Gealman, girls' and women's club director, and Miss Solomon, kindergarten teacher, on Wednesday, August 5. They will examine activities in the kindergarten classes.

COLOR SCHEME OF BROWN BECOMING TO ALL WOMEN

Sketched in Paris

KLEENEX
disposable tissues

are used once and destroyed

NO ONE likes to wash handkerchiefs. It's the most unpleasant task imaginable. Why do it?

There's no longer any necessity whatever, for any woman to put up with this disagreeable task. Kleenex costs so little, and it's sold the country over.

Wonderful in many ways

Kleenex is a remarkable soft tissue the size of a handkerchief. It's gentler than any handkerchief, and scientific tests prove it's nearly twice as absorbent.

Due to the very low cost, each tissue is used just once, then destroyed. This not only covers washing. It prevents self-infection from germs in handkerchiefs. And permits a clean, fresh tissue every time.

Kleenex is particularly valuable during hay fever and colds when a dry handkerchief is so necessary to comfort.

Other uses

Use Kleenex for removing face creams, as authorities advise. Its great absorbency assures thorough cleansing of the pores.

Hostesses like to keep a package [illegible]. Mothers find Kleenex the nursery.

Kleenex comes in many lovely [illegible] as well as white, in Cellophane-wrapped packages to keep it [illegible] fresh and clean. The convenient package permits easy removal of tissues with one hand. At all drug, dry goods and department stores.

HOME FOR AGED FIRE INQUEST NEXT WEEK

Three-Day Investigation Set by Coroner; Bishop Conducts Rites Tomorrow

Three days will be needed for the inquest into the deaths of 43 aged inmates of the Little Sisters of the Poor home in Penn avenue, who died in the fire that swept through the institution Friday night, Coroner W. J. McGregor said today. The inquiry will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The hearings will begin at 2 o'clock each afternoon and will continue until 4, the coroner said. Deputy coroners who have been questioning nuns, inmates and rescuers already have summoned 40 witnesses, McGregor said.

Requiem high mass will be celebrated tomorrow in St. Paul's Cathedral by the Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh, for the 43 aged victims of the fire.

This solemn service was announced today as plans for the relief of the inmates and sisters made homeless by the devastating blast reached an organized stage.

J. Rogers Flannery and others identified with the relief plan were meeting to complete the preliminary committee, chairmen to head the fund appeal.

$200,000 NEEDED

The amount necessary to rebuild the structure has not definitely been set, but $200,000 has been named as the minimum figure to rebuild. It would require over $600,000 for a new fireproof structure, it was said.

While telegrams and calls offering assistance and expressing sorrow continue to come to the clearing house for information and relief, the Council of Catholic Women, 5216 Penn avenue, more than $4,000 had already been contributed for relief. Food and clothing, especially clothing for the aged inmates, would be useful, it was said.

Bishop Boyle's committee of experts will begin its investigation early next week, and continue until every Catholic institution in the Pittsburgh diocese has been thoroughly inspected.

2 BODIES IDENTIFIED

The bodies of three more victims of the fire at the home were identified at the morgue yesterday. They are Michael Corrigan, identified by a daughter, Mrs. Jennie Tolley of 5212 Baum boulevard. Lucasio Matangaine, 64, identified by Joseph Cirilango of 622 Maple terrace, and Bridget Cloonan, identified by Mercedes Mullen of 939 Grant street, McKeesport. Seven bodies are still unidentified. The body of Miss Cloonan was unclaimed.

Six of the seven unidentified bodies are believed to be those of Mary Henry, Joseph DeKourtis, Hugh McAvoy, Patrick Lannahan, Daniel O'Shea and Anna Carroll.

Sixty of the persons injured or overcome in the fire are still in the hospitals, 17 of whom are reported in serious condition.

HASTEN CASES OF PRISONERS LACKING BAIL

Grand Jury Starts Session Expected to Free Some and Let Others Begin Terms

For the first time in Allegheny County court history, the grand jury was assembled today to act on cases of prisoners unable to get bail, so that those against whom true bills are not found can be released, instead of having to lie in jail until September.

There were 128 cases awaiting disposition when the jury assembled this morning. All of persons attested since the grand jury ceased its regular sessions June 26. District Attorney Andrew T. Park said the cases were principally minor ones.

Prisoners against whom indictments are returned will have the privilege of pleading guilty at once if they do not wish to stand trial and can begin serving sentences at once.

Many prisoners already have waived indictment and pleaded guilty on informations.

Assistant District Attorney Ralph H. Hunter is presenting the cases to the grand jury, which was expected to make its return to Judge Gray late this afternoon.

KLINE AND KERR FLY TO N. Y.

Mayor Charles H. Kline and Controller James P. Kerr today are in New York signing city bonds. Some time ago the Mayor is said to have promised his wife that he would not do any flying, but an emergency arose and last evening he left for Gotham by plane. Maj. Philip Mathews, head of the Bureau of Governmental Research, planned to go along, but there wasn't room in the Mayor's plane and Mathews followed east in another plane.

Politician, Unlike Diplomat, Gets Something Done

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

The difference between a politician and a diplomat is that a politician gets something done.

The fiftieth peace conference just closed in London after voting to postpone the inevitable for one year.

Germany has a breathing spell to fill its lungs before the big dive.

That country is flatter than a bedroom slipper.

Why not call everything off and start taking life all over again? Call our diplomats home and put them to some useful work. Some years ago we pointed out that when everything has been said and done, too much has been said and nothing done.

America is leading the disarmament program. We just built 10 cruisers that won't float.

We're going to use 'em for decoys during the mallard season.

They put those 10 boats in the ocean and all they did was roll from side to side while the sailors sang "Rocked in a Cradle on the Deep."

The best way we know to break up those diplomatic romances is to leave our diplomats over there and call our photographers back.

MYSTERY VEILS ATTACK ON MAN

Mystery today shrouded the attack by five men upon Charles Eiter, 26, of 111 Eleanor street, at Arlington avenue and Eleanor street, shortly after midnight.

Eiter was walking to his home when an automobile stopped at the curb. Five men leaped from the car and began beating Eiter with blackjacks, police said. Eiter, suffering lacerations of the lip and over his eyes, refused medical attention. He could ascribe no motive for the attack. Police were of the belief that the assailants mistook Eiter for someone else.

MINE STRIKERS HALT PICKETING

State police at Brownsville reported that the 325 men who returned to work yesterday in the Gibson mine of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company, near Bentleyville, were unmolested as they entered the workings today.

Yesterday when the men returned to work pickets of the National Miners' Union patrolled the roads in the vicinity of the mine entrances, but today no pickets appeared, police said. The mine employs 400 men, it was said.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 30.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Been reading of our Army survey of a new canal by Col. Dan Sultan, but what you haven't read is the wonderful work that he and his crew did during the Nicaragua earthquake. He moved in with his whole outfit, among which were some splendid doctors, and they worked day and night there. They and the marines were in the right place at the right time. He explained the canal to me down there. Folks that like to dig canals, there is a good place to dig one there to cost $200,000,000, but the way we are going what's 200 more million in back for us. We are sunk anyhow, so let's get a series of canals, then save the best one.

Fire Hazards at Dixmont Cause Concern, Told To Underwriters

Fire hazards at the Dixmont Hospital for the Insane, with a four story main building of brick and frame construction erected in 1862, have been reported to officials of the institution in detail by the Board of Fire Underwriters, it has been learned from authoritative sources.

An appropriation of $40,000 for automatic sprinklers was vetoed by Gov. Pinchot June 25. In his veto message the Governor said the institution is not owned by the state, although it receives state aid and it would not be proper for the commonwealth to pay for the improvements. He also said the bill was not in the budget.

FIRE MENACE SEEN

The possibilities of fire breaking out in the building and razing through its crowded double-locked wards has given concern to those familiar with the situation for some time. This has been increased by the disaster at the Little Sisters of the Poor Home.

Dr. H. A. Hutchinson, superintendent of the hospital, said a sprinkling system had been recommended for the building some time ago by the Board of Fire Underwriters.

COURT ACTION ON GARBAGE BID SEEN

Hearing Before Council Paves Way for Subpenas; War of Words at Hearing

Formal request for a further investigation into resources and personnel of the Modern Service Company, low bidder on the city's 1932 garbage and rubbish removal contract, may be made at next Monday's meeting of Council, President John S. Herron said today.

This will give Attorney Earl Reed opportunity to present Eugene Gutt, the taxpayer, an opportunity to take witnesses who might refuse to answer questions, into court. Under the plan for a formal probe, it was decided, Council would be given power to issue subpenas. If witnesses refuse to testify, contempt action can be brought.

Reed said last night he would ask subpenas for a number of purported stockholders in the Modern Service Company if they refused to attend a conference hearing next Tuesday morning.

BATTLE OF WORDS

In a three-hour informal hearing session yesterday Attorney Reed and Attorney Charles B. Prichard, treasurer of the company, engaged in a battle of words.

Contending that Reed, who he asserted only represented a single taxpayer, had no right to question witnesses for the company, Prichard said he did not intend to let the company's business.

Reed asked for a formal inquiry because that method, he said, was the only one under the law whereby he could force court action on witnesses who refused to answer his questions.

Reed said he was primarily interested in knowing where the Modern Service Company's incinerator sites were. Herron said he, too, was interested in the same question.

Reed asked:

"Do you realize you must have the zoning ordinance changed to erect incinerators within the city limits?"

Prichard answered:

"If we are awarded the garbage contract, which will save this city $1,000,000 in three years, we will ask for change of zoning. If this is refused, we will build our incinerators close by."

TO ASK SUBPENAS

Reed said he would ask subpenas for Nathan Friedman, C. A. Bardolph, president of the Modern Service Company, P. LeMoyne Page, Charles Shapiro and Nathan Rosenberg, said to be stockholders in the organization.

Bardolph was questioned at yesterday's hearing.

The hearing primarily was to give Samuel A. Greeley, Chicago incinerating engineer, an opportunity to suggest changes in the local garbage removal situation. Charging the present health department specifications were faulty, Greeley asserted the plan here where the settlement of all disputes on garbage collection is left entirely to the mayor and health director, was the only one of its type in the United States.

Greeley continued:

"The present cost of collection here is unusual. On first thought $5 per ton is high, but I wouldn't say that this price was high for Pittsburgh, because I haven't had an opportunity to investigate thoroughly."

Greeley pointed out that it would take at least six months to build incinerators planned by the Modern Service Company. The organization proposes to build the incinerators within 90 days after the contract is awarded.

READY ON TIME

William M. Hannan Jr. of the Nye Odorless Incinerator Company, contradicted Greeley telling Council:

"We will have the incinerators built within 90 days. We are giving the Modern Service Company a bond for 100 per cent of the contract that the job will be done on time. What more could one ask? No matter how many incinerators we would have to build, we will have them all completed within the contract time."

Television Reaches Liner Blurred by Ocean Mist; Second Broadcast Clear

Sea fogs that have thwarted the vision of men for time unmeasurable, have been conquered by television. The machine, fighting against weather conditions, has successfully transmitted moving images from New York to a ship at sea for the first time.

Charles H. Joseph, columnist of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, was aboard the Leviathan when the first successful television broadcast to ships at sea was made. Joseph was on his way to Europe.

MAKE TESTS AT SEA

He watched Channel 2 aboard the Leviathan, on its way to New York from Nova Scotia as the first successful test was made. Marshall P. Wilder, son of the late humorist and employed by a Boston company, conducted the test by remote control. He was stationed three decks above.

The television apparatus was set up on the Leviathan as it sailed in Thursday from Boston. Wilder 21, and just out of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, had been chosen to conduct it. Saturday night the first test was made with Mayor James P. Curley of Boston the subject. The weather was terrible, a heavy fog and other objectionable conditions prevailing. The images seen in the lens on the ship were poor, Mr. Joseph said, disappointing.

The next attempt was made Monday night. Columbia broadcasting television waves were picked up and the images of two actors performing before the transmitter in New York appeared in the lens on the ship.

IMAGES ARE CLEAR

The images were about two inches in height but clear and recognizable. Plans are being made, Mr. Joseph said, to use increased equipment to put the images on a screen.

The test was during the week-end cruise of the Leviathan made by Mr. Joseph. With the worst weather conditions conquered, Wilder believes that television has met its biggest obstacle.

GOOD . . they've got to be good!

They make things go!

931,007 MACHINISTS (IN THE U. S. A.)

turn metal into millions of useful things!

The uproar of great factories pounds at their ears. But they go right ahead. Their minds and hands have a part in turning out nearly everything you use, or live in, or ride on. Accuracy is their watchword!

They're MADE that way!

Accurate! Men and science . . . the most modern machines, the soundest research . . . in perfect teamwork!

No cigarette is made with more care than Chesterfield. The best tobaccos money can buy. The purest cigarette paper made. Plus every manufacturing refinement that science can give!

Milder—you can smoke as many as you like. And they taste better—that good natural flavor of ripe, sweet-tasting tobaccos. The last Chesterfield of the day is as mild and smooth as the first.

Well-filled, well-formed, even-burning, always a cool and comfortable smoke—They Satisfy! They're made that way!

Chesterfield

The Loud Speaker By Louis Reid

NEW YORK, July 30.—Television has not yet advanced to the point where James J. Walker is recognizable. Maybe that will be the last test of television: to know Jimmy Walker when you see him.

Wizards in the laboratories are now deep in conference over what color lipstick is most suitable to television; how best to present a play; what kind of mechanical props to use. Director of make-up will probably be one of the biggest jobs in the studios when television is here in a big way.

Never thought we'd hear Wagner from Bayreuth. It shows how far radio has progressed in two years. Yet the broadcasters continue cagey. They always speak of attempted broadcast when announcing foreign programs. Opera has also been aired from Vienna. They might better keep it under cover and give us instead an hour of Strauss waltzes. Nothing so cooling to the fevered feet as a Strauss waltz.

Hard put for exciting sports to air, radio rajahs are now dishing up unimportant polo matches at Sands Point. . . . Wonder if Tommy Hitchcock has radio personality? . . . Most expert exponents of hoedowns on the air are the members of the Pickard family. They play the old jigs as grandpappy and Uncle Freedom would have liked to have had them played. . . . Even the Red Caps of the Grand Central Terminal have a jazz band. Radio has yet to snare them. But it will, we'll bet our button shoes. . . . Press agents now describe "Ol' Man River" as blood-tingling. Mebbe so, but it seems to us more of a sedative than a stimulant. . . . Radio artists making trains always seem to get the aid of police escorts. Such razzle-dazzle has been known to help the publicity.

Isaac Don Levine is even a faster talker than the M. Gibbons. But neither is in a class with Mrs. Herbert Hoover. . . . The good old art of debunking is seldom practiced on the air channels. Yet it has one representative in Carveth Wells. Wells claims wild animals are wild only when infuriated by hunters. Listeners have been known to be wild too when infuriated by announcers. . . . Jack Dempsey, they say, has never been at ease before a "mike" phone. Prof. Tunney on the other hand, refused to be perturbed. . . . Wonder why railroads don't use radio more to sell their service? . . . For that matter, trans-Atlantic traveling might be helped through the microphone. Plenty of military music is now being aired by the jolly old B. B. C. But it's never identified with those famous regiments, the Coldstream Guards, the Grenadier Guards, the Irish Guards.

New York does have respect for tradition. The new Waldorf is to be opened with a ball . . . just like the ball that opened the old Waldorf 38 years ago. But there'll be a difference. This time the favored of radio will be seen and heard. . . . Broadcasters stop at nothing. They're now reproducing riveting machines by a small electric motor and a whirling strap which brushes a small tom-tom. . . . Book publishers still enjoy more freedom than broadcasters. . . . Radio would never find room for the choice morsels of "The Washington Merry-Go-Round". . . . Reinald Werrenrz believes he has in radio the finest job open to a singer. Wonder what Gatti-Gazazza has to say to that.

OPENING TOMORROW

A DAY IN ADVANCE Because of Saturday Half Holiday

The AUGUST Sales

Two Great Annual Selling Events—Furs and Furniture—ready for your critical inspection tomorrow. Better quality, lower prices—the keynote of both sales.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC SEND OFF FOR THIS SALE

FURNITURE » »

During Advance Days of Inspection hundreds of customers expressed themselves as being frankly surprised that quality furniture could be so low priced.

"I never knew you had such attractive furniture"

"The most helpful suggestions I've ever seen"

"Your model rooms look like the pictures in fine magazines"

"The new drapery department is just fine"

"I simply adore the French house"

"Is that gorgeous chair only $39.50?"

"These lamps are the best in the city"

No, dear reader we haven't gone in for testimonial advertising—these, and many such nice compliments, have been reaching our ears during the Advance Inspection days preceeding the August Sale of furniture, which begins tomorrow.

An advance inspection period such as we have had this past week is indeed an enthusiastic send off for the sale. We are happy indeed to have made it so worth while to the public.

Our Furniture sale this year steps out of the usual sale of being just another furniture sale and embraces, from a fashion and display angle, every homefurnishing division of the store. In this way we can not only display the furniture to better advantage, but can convincingly demonstrate that Boggs & Buhl has the correctly styled homefurnishings to complete the smart picture the furniture sale presents.

With low prices being shouted throughout the length and breadth of the land nearly everybody must realize that this is a buyer's market.

The price of furniture is way under par. Boggs & Buhl believes that furniture prices will not go lower and is willing to guarantee this to those who buy in the August Sale.

Our sale prices are guaranteed low—as low—or lower—than you will find in any store, consistent with quality. We emphasize that furniture here is not built to meet low prices, but is built to maintain the reputation we have as a reliable store.

$385 Beautiful FUR COATS

$285

"More fur, better fur for the money," is the keynote of the August Sale. You'll find thrilling changes in new fur styles. You'll find it's "opportunity year" to buy a new fur coat. Judge the August Sale by the $285 group and its typical values:

HUDSON SEAL*

These coats will lead the sale. (1) Flat furs are ultra smart. (2) Hudson Seal* is always "good." (3) May be had in the new trig silhouette with costly Blue Dyed Fox, Platinum Fox, Ermine, Kolinsky or Persian Lamb—a low August Sale price..... $285

SPORTS COATS

Self trims, full sleeves, new ideas, straight lines mark the new fur sports coats. These are shown in Caracul Kid, Raccoon, Natural Muskrat, Russian Pony, and Krimmer. Other coats, equal values, include pieced Mink, American Broadtail, and Lilac Squirrel at.... $285

JAP MINK OR PERSIAN LAMB

A record low price for first quality Jap Mink Coats. In trig effect with self- trimmings. The Persian Lamb Coat (or Black Alaska or Logwood Seal) may be had ready-made, or custom-made to your order—something to take advantage of at only..... $285

Parks in Theater All Day To Escape Hot Wave

If it had not been for a quart bottle of milk bulging out of the side pocket of his coat this fellow wouldn't have attracted any particular attention when he came to the ticket window of the downtown Loew's Penn Theater soon after the opening yesterday morning. Yes, he had a small package in addition to the milk bottle, but even that wasn't unusual.

The ushers spotted that bottle of milk during the morning and up until late in the afternoon they saw it half a dozen times as its owner drifted in and out of his seat.

As he came out along about 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon Manager Addison thought it about time to look into the mystery of the man, the bottle of milk and the package, which by the way, had considerably dwindled in size.

So Mr. Addison casually remarked to the man as he came up from the smoking room:

"You seem to like our show."

"The show's fine," was the reply, "but I came in here to escape the heat as much as I did to see the show. I'm not going to take any chances. I'm in this cool spot until you close tonight. I brought three sandwiches with me and a quart of cold milk and it was still cool as I finished it a few minutes ago. I've seen the picture four times today and expect to see it twice tonight. If I get sleepy the stage show will give me a jolt from time to time that will open my eyes."

Manager Addison replied:

"Well, that's fair enough."

EVERYWHERE almost every one is drinking The Champagne of Ginger Ales. In three months enough Canada Dry has been sold to lift the U. S. S. Chicago off her keel, and still have some left.

The reasons are simple. First. At its new low price, Canada Dry is the outstanding value in ginger ales today. It didn't take people long to find that out.

Second. Canada Dry is more convenient. Because now there are two sizes—the familiar twelve-ounce size for individual use, and the new large size containing five full glasses for family enjoyment and parties.

And last but not least—because Canada Dry is The Champagne of Ginger Ales . . . as fine a beverage as

From the top of this peak the sightseer commands one of the most extensive views in the United States, it being possible to see into the states of Arizona, California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado and New Mexico, as well as the country of Mexico, more than 225 miles distant by airline. The extraordinarily clear air enables one to see clearly at that great distance. PAT PATTERSON RODE A MOTORCYCLE WITHOUT HANDLEBARS—On Sunday, April 5, 1925, Walter R. Patterson, handcuffed and strapped to the saddle, rode his motorcycle from Tacoma to Portland, with the handlebars of his machine removed. At the end of the 168-mile trip Patterson's handcuffs were removed by Police Officer Wiles, of Portland, and he received official recognition of his accomplishment. The fact that much of the operation of a motorcycle depends on the use of handlebars makes Patterson's manipulation of his machine with his feet exclusively all the more astounding.

GORNICK STOPS JACK DILLON

DAYTON, O., July 30.—Marty Gornick, of Pittsburgh, won over Jack Dillon, of Dayton, who substituted for Johnny Cuttin, here last night by a technical knockout in the seventh round in a scheduled 10-round bout.

Gornick was a bit stronger than Dillon throughout the fight and did the bulk of the leading. He early piled up a margin in points.

In the seventh he staggered Dillon with a series of hard lefts and rights to the head and body but could not floor him.

Battling near the ropes Gornick half-shoved, half-hit Dillon through them. Referee Howell aided Dillon back in the ring and lifted Gornick's hand in token of victory. Dillon was out on his feet.

SANSTOL DEFENDS TITLE

MONTREAL, July 30.—(AP.)—Pete Sanstol, Montreal Norwegian who is recognized by the Montreal Athletic Commission as bantamweight champion of the world, successfully defended his title last night by outpointing Eugene Huat, of France.

Sanstol made a whirlwind finish in the 10-round battle that earned him the unanimous decision of the judges, although at least one section of the crowd was strongly in favor of the little Frenchman. Each weighed 117½ pounds.

N. L. TO RECALL M'CORMICK

KANSAS CITY, July 30.—Barry McCormick, former National League umpire, now officiating in the American Association, is slated to return to the big show within a short period. Negotiations are under way to recall him to the National League staff, which has come in for considerable criticism all over the circuit this season.

President Heydler, anxious to remedy the situation as quickly as possible, is doing the angling for the return of the arbiter and is said to be on the lookout for other talent as well.

Baseball's Comedian

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 30.—If any sinners want a taste of their after-life, they should sign up with the Washington ball team for a summer. It's so hot in the ball park, the peanuts roast themselves. We have to cover the bases with asbestos, and sometimes when we are losing we have to wet down Griff to prevent spontaneous combustion.

Nick Altrock

Personally, I haven't had a night's rest for two weeks. Griff claims I do my sleeping in the coaching box.

But I want to tell you Washington in the summer is hot, with a capital H, and you don't even get relief turning the thermometer upside down.

DOEG, VINES IN FINAL AT SEABRIGHT

SEABRIGHT N J July 30 (AP) — California again is represented in the tennis world as the annual invitation tournaments of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club progress toward the final rounds with a national ranking player of the finals of the California junior tennis championships.

The men's singles event is down to the last eight with John Hugh Doeg, who won the California singles championship for Southern California last year before moving to Berkeley, N. J., meeting Ellsworth Vines, Jr., of Pasadena, Cal., tomorrow.

DOEG GAINS FINAL

Doeg reached the final today by beating another California star, Lester Stoefen of Los Angeles 4-6, 6-3, 8-6, while Vines eliminated Cliff Sutter of San Gabriel, 6-2, 11-9.

In the women's singles event into the semi-finals today Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del., is the only Easterner left to oppose three Coast players. Mrs. Jessup outlasted Mrs. Marjorie Morsell of Lutham, Mass., in two sets of 9-7, 6-4. Miss Helen Wills Moody, unchallenged court queen, is out semi-final today.

In the other semi-final match Mrs. L. A. Harper of Oakland, first ranking American player, meets Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal.

MRS. MOODY WINS

Mrs. Moody scored another quick victory yesterday downing Baroness Giacomo Levi of New York, 6-1, 6-0. Miss Jacobs defeated Mae Cuervorst of Wichita, Kan., 6-0, 6-2, and Mrs. Harper eliminated Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., 9-7, 6-3.

The doubles matches in the men's and women's events are in the semi-finals as they progressed to the semi-finals. The national champions Doeg and George M. Lott, Jr., of Philadelphia meet Gregory Mangin of Newark and Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex., in one match, while Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, face Vines and Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, Cal., in the other.

FRISCH BACK ON JOB

ST. LOUIS, July 30 (AP) — Frankie Frisch, the Cardinals' southpaw second baseman who has been out of action since with a sprained knee, was ready to report to the baseball park today. And the first time since he left, Frisch was in uniform ready for action. However, Manager Gabby Street decided to give him another day of rest.

GIANTS LEAVING FORBES FIELD AT END OF VICTORY OVER PIRATES

Perhaps there is a bit of glamour for the ordinary mortal about big league baseball and many a person in a more prosaic role would give his right arm to be a star performer in the big show, but the sports pages heroes react just the same as other folks to the end of the day's work. Here we have the Giants headed for the clubhouse at the finish of a day's labor against the Pirates yesterday. What do you suppose is uppermost in their collective minds at the moment? Right! Ham and eggs, corn beef and cabbage steaks smothered in onions. The end of the game is their call to dinner and the athletes are prompt to answer the call.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Turn Up — Local Market Heavy

MARKET RISES AFTER EARLY DECLINE

Most of Losses Erased By Midday and Some Moderate Gains Appear

NEW YORK, July 30—(AP)—The stock market was disinclined to mourn the low state of steel earnings for the more than one day, and heaviness in the early trading was quickly thrown off today.

Rails were conspicuously heavy in the first hour and Steel shares eased a little further but a gradual upturn then set in, and had wiped out most of the losses by mid-day. During the afternoon moderate gains were registered here and there. Rails however were somewhat heavy particularly the rail rens.

Bethlehem and United States Steel each lost a point that is covered.

Jacking up of the Bank of England rate from 3½ to 4½ per cent on top of last week's advance from 2½ to 3½, had not been generally expected in view of the checking of the flow of gold to France. Nevertheless it was an aggressive move which bankers here were inclined to applaud.

While leading bankers here have informally expressed willingness to grant almost any credit that the Bank of England might need the bank has apparently taken measures to help itself rather than seeking aid here. The disinclination to negotiate loans in either Paris or New York is regarded here as a matter of pride.

Wall street was less interested in the dividends and earnings announcement of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation after the close of the market than it was in United States Steel's quarterly meeting Tuesday. Nevertheless there was considerable difference of opinion as to what action Bethlehem might take on its common dividend. A sharp reduction in the $4 annual rate was regarded as a foregone conclusion since earnings are believed to have fallen considerably under preferred dividend requirements.

Wall street recognizes that adverse dividends news is by no means out of the way. Omission of Barnsdall's dividend caused no surprise and further slashing of oil company disbursements is expected. Further railway cuts are also being forecast.

The local money market was easier with call money offered outside at 1 per cent for the first time in several days.

SOCONY-VACUUM DEAL O. K.'D

NEW YORK, July 30—(AP)—Stockholders of Vacuum Oil Company today approved the proposed merger with Standard Oil Company of New York to form the billion-dollar Socony-Vacuum Corporation.

The final vote at the special meeting showed 4,679,808 shares voting in favor of the merger and 362 shares against it.

Under the terms of the merger Vacuum stockholders will receive 2½ shares of the capital stock of the new company for each share of their present stock and Standard of New York stockholders will receive new certificates for their present shares on a share-for-share basis.

Socony-Vacuum Corporation will have 40,000,000 shares of $25 par value.

Tidewater Gets Kansas Property

NEW YORK, July 30—Tidewater Associated Oil Company, through its subsidiary, Tidal Oil Company, has acquired the producing properties of Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas Company, a subsidiary of Ohio Oil Company, in the Kilgore and Lathrop areas of the East Texas field, consisting of 2,300 acres of oil leases together with 25 producing wells, pipe line gathering system, steel tankage and crude oil in storage.

Stock Membership Sells for $210,000

NEW YORK, July 30—Arrangements have been made for the sale of a New York Stock Exchange membership at $210,000, a decrease of $25,000 from the last previous sale.

Valley Steel Mill Operations Gain 3%

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 30—Steel operations at mid-week rose to 45 per cent or an increase of 3 per cent from the beginning of the week and 8 per cent from a week ago.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

U. S. TIN CONSUMPTION

Tin is the only metal of which the United States annually consumes more than $20,000,000 worth and yet remains a negligible producer, points out the United States Bureau of Mines. In fact the value of the tin annually imported for consumption ranges from $60,000,000 to over $100,000,000 and accounts for almost half of the world's production. Annual domestic production is valued at less than $30,000 and amounts to less than one-fortieth of 1 per cent of the world's total output. The principal tin-consuming industries are canning, automobile manufacture and building. The packing [illegible] is relatively stable from year to year and may be counted upon to absorb a fairly constant quantity of tin plate and solder. The automobile industry is subject to wide variation in the number of units produced, says Charles White Merrill, in a recently issued [illegible] tears of mines report.

AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION

An automatic variable transmission gear, which eliminates the necessity of shifting gears while operating an automobile has, according to the inventor, been successfully tested in Australia under all sorts of road and traffic conditions without apparent defect, states a report from Consul Henry M. Wolcott, Adelaide, made public by the department of commerce. The new invention permits the removal of the clutch pedal and gear shift lever from the machine, the motor being controlled solely by the throttle, it is stated.

HEAVY CONSTRUCTION

Under the stimulus of a $15,000,000 office building planned for New York City and gains in public work, heavy construction and engineering proposals announced throughout the country in the past week moved up to a total money valuation of $41,432,000 for the week except highways, Construction Daily reports. This compares with $30,854,000 in the preceding week and $43,835,000 in the corresponding week last year.

TOY ORDERS LAG

Complaining that retailers have been marking time on their holiday toy orders since late in June, toy manufacturers predicted that delivery difficulties will afflict the market again this season unless an increase in buying develops soon. Salesmen returning from the road report that dealers are reluctant to order at this time. In the New York market sales agents said that buyers due around the middle of the month have put off their trips until late in August.

CHEMICAL OUTLOOK

Indications that manufacturers and users of chemicals are preparing for business recovery by putting their railroad equipment in order are evident from the large number of special freight cars now undergoing repairs. The General American Tank Car Corporation, prominent in the development of special cars for the chemical industry, reports exceptional activity during the past three months at its 10 repair plants in various parts of the United States.

COMBINES ACTIVITIES

Montgomery Ward & Co. has announced that it has combined all of the corporation's research activities into one department, with I. S. Keilholtz as general director. Mr. Keilholtz has a background of 10 years experience in the research field for the General Motors Corporation.

Utilities Plan Stock Split

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, July 30 — Part of the buying which has come into the American Woolen stock was based on a report that a recapitalization plan is being worked out and would be announced in the not distant future. The stock carries quite a heavy accumulation of back dividends and the point has been made that these would have to be taken care of satisfactorily in any new plan of capitalization which might be adopted.

Only Two Steel Companies Earn Dividends

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

ONLY TWO OF THE LEADING steel companies earned their dividend requirements in the second quarter. The two organizations were National Steel Corporation and the Inland Steel Company. National Steel was the only company to cover dividend requirements for the combined first and second quarters and was the only steel producer to meet dividend charges in the final quarter of 1930.

Earnings of both companies this year have been substantially smaller than in 1930. However, they are in a unique position in spite of this decline since most other large steel producers have reported losses or have been compelled to dip into surpluses to meet portions of their dividend payments.

While National has been able to earn its dividend requirements in each quarter since its organization early in 1930, Inland's earnings fell behind dividend payments in the final quarter of 1930 and the first quarter of the present year. The statement for the second quarter represented a remarkable improvement.

Inland Nets 64 Cents

THE INLAND STEEL COMPANY has shown continuous improvement in its earnings this year. Net profit for the second quarter of 1931 was $772,757 or 64 cents a share. This exceeded profit of $633,873 or 53 cents a share in the first quarter which in turn exceeded net of $378,997 or 32 cents a share in the final three months of 1930.

Inland's stock pays dividends of 62½ cents a share quarterly. The rate was reduced from $1 quarterly with the payment made on June 1. While other steel companies have made comparable reductions in their dividends, they have not been able to earn even at the reduced rates this year. The increase in Inland's earnings in the second quarter was accomplished in spite of the fact that interest charges were greater due to the recent sale of $15,000,000 of 4½ per cent bonds to finance plant improvements.

While Inland's earnings have improved this year, they are still far below those of 1930 and 1929. Net for the first six months of the present year was equivalent to $1.17 a share as compared with $4.45 a share in the first half of 1930 and with $5.11 a share in 1929.

Good National Statement Expected

NATIONAL STEEL HAS NOT published its report for the second quarter but officials have declared that the dividends were earned. The company pays 50 cents a share quarterly. In the first quarter net profit was $1,926,000 which was equivalent to 89 cents a share. Second quarter earnings probably were not as large as those of the first quarter.

National was formed by the merger of Weirton Steel, Great Lakes Steel and the ore and blast furnace properties of the M. A. Hanna Company. Early this year it acquired the Michigan Steel Corporation which gave it complete operating facilities in the Detroit district.

Extensive plant improvements have recently been completed at the Weirton and Detroit plants by National. In view of the depressed state of business, particularly in Detroit, it is doubtful if the new facilities have had a chance to make any material contribution to earnings up to the present time although interest charges have been increased by the sale of securities to finance construction work.

Hachmeister-Lind On Curb Exchange

The New York Curb Exchange has admitted to listing 400,000 shares of no par value Hachmeister-Lind common stock.

The slash in the Steel dividend and omission of the Jones & Laughlin common payment naturally served to prime the financial community for drastic action at today's meeting of the Bethlehem board. Wall street's idea of what might be expected from Bethlehem directors today was perhaps best set forth yesterday as the acute weakness in the stock which yielded under weight of heavy and relentless selling pressure for a loss of more than 5 points to the lowest levels in nearly 20 years. Though some people are looking for omission of the dividend entirely at today's meeting, the majority opinion expected a cut in the rate from the present $1 basis to probably a $1.50 annual basis. At the April meeting the rate was lowered from $6 to $4.

The market action of many stocks reflected the feeling of uncertainty with regard to dividend rates of other companies engendered by the Steel corporation's action. Word was going the rounds that the Nickel Plate would probably omit the common dividend at its meeting today and there was some anxiety over the outlook for payment of the disbursement due on the road's preferred stock. The financial community is not particularly hopeful of the International Nickel dividend when action is taken on August 6. At the same time it was only natural that there should be much conjecture about the prospect for maintenance of current rates by some of the railroads such as Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and New York Central.

Ponder Oklahoma Governor's Oil Ultimatum

TULSA, Okla., July 30 — Executives of purchasing oil companies last night were considering counter moves to Gov. W. H. Murray's ultimatum that he will call out the National Guard if necessary to enforce a shutdown of all flush pools in the state unless the price of oil is increased to $1 a barrel by Saturday.

None of the companies had announced a definite course of action. Most midcontinent executives were in agreement upon one thing, that their answer to the Governor's ultimatum would await the issuance of a formal demand or order by him. They said their only notice of the Governor's action had been through the newspapers.

CORN SOARS 5 MORE CENTS

CHICAGO, July 30 — Corn jumped 3 cents a bushel higher today as soon as trading began. A quick further bulge lifted the market 2 cents more, July soaring to 72, as a result of anxious bidding of scarcity of offerings of corn available for delivery before month end expiration of contracts. Other months than July advanced but kept within ordinary limits. Wheat started unchanged to ½ off and then rallied.

Except that the corn pit was crowded with traders and that all other grain pits were relatively deserted evidence that a corn "corner" existed came chiefly from Sleep new uptums of prices. Thomas M. Howell, the silent man-fed trader generally credited with being the man who had acquired ownership of the bulk of corn sold for delivery in Chicago this month was not on the exchange floor. Brokers friendly to him estimated roughly that in the fresh 5-cent jump in prices today he had a profit in sight of 20 cents a bushel on 5,000,000 bushels or more, in addition to profits heretofor realized.

Talk that sellers of the corn future delivery contracts which must be settled before tomorrow's trading ended were largely government financed agencies remained unverified today.

W. L. MILLER, Secretary.

COTTON MARKET

STORE SALES ON UPGRADE

NEW YORK, July 30.—Sales of department stores in the Second Federal Reserve district during during June were slightly larger than in the corresponding period of last year following the large decrease in May, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported. The more favorable comparison for June was partly the result of an extra selling day in that month.

Total June sales of reporting chain stores showed an increase over last year for the first time since May, 1930, but after adjustment to a daily average basis they again showed a small decline from those last year, which was smaller than in the previous month. June sales of reporting wholesale dealers averaged about 10 per cent below a year ago, the small st year-to-year decline since February 1930.

Kitty Makes Promise to See Malvern at Midnight

CHAPTER XXX

When Chubb Osmund raised the little bottle to his lips I felt my scalp crawl. I'm sure my hair was trying to stand on end under my turban.

I had the right to call his silly bluff. I supposed it was a bluff—by urging him to take the "poison."

But I wasn't so shocked or dared that I didn't yank the bottle out of his hand.

Some [illegible]

"I suppose [illegible] eat right the [illegible] ably eat [illegible] trying [illegible]

I should [illegible] I think it was. Chubb [illegible]

I stared at him.

The [illegible]

"What was [illegible] demanded [illegible] start [illegible]

Police [illegible]

"What [illegible] butt in?"

I shouted [illegible] awful [illegible]

"You did [illegible]

"I adore [illegible] you.

"You [illegible] take me home.

"But [illegible] won't [illegible] poison myself [illegible] hootch [illegible] is awful [illegible] myself to death, Katie.

Write [illegible] words after you get [illegible] it will make a lovely song.

"I might [illegible] honey [illegible] there girl is made from [illegible] denatured [illegible] Come now [illegible] me some more. I want [illegible] seriously.

CHUBB INTOXICATED

I am [illegible] I'm [illegible] all right. I [illegible] be angry at [illegible] because [illegible] suddenly struck me as highly funny.

So I [illegible] to [illegible] apartment. [illegible] after that she has gone [illegible] to stop [illegible] a little shopping. We took [illegible] getting [illegible] a little dinner [illegible] we were going out. We didn't [illegible] buy more than [illegible] a week.

I told Viola all about [illegible]

"If it had been me, Chubb Osmund," Viola said, "I would have given a horsemaker or your beer and walked home. The idea of scaring Katie like that!"

Then we broke into a laugh.

Chubb insisted on hating Viola with [illegible]

"She knows I want to marry you, what's the use? Perhaps she will [illegible] with me," he said.

He took us to a quiet little hotel where we had dinner in a secluded nook with [illegible] pink light at the table. I could scarcely read the menu.

Synopsis

Because Katherine Mason believes in playing around and having a gay time she finds herself deeply involved in troubles. She jilts Peter Thompson because he is poor. She expects to marry rich Thad Parsons but he marries Arline Sargent who is named in a divorce scandal within six months. Katherine is getting fond of Forrest Malvern, a rich man of 40 who had been sweet on her old friend Dolly Hawkins who disappeared long ago. Thad is going to divorce Arline. Katherine tells Thad she will never marry him. Thad's wife offers her $50,000 to help her in the divorce case. Kitty agrees to swear to a false story against Thad, but when the trial opens she shocks Arline by telling the truth. As the result Thad wins his case, Kitty and Viola are sent to a fashion show at Palm Beach. There they meet Arline and Curt Lawlor. Arline tells Kitty to leave the place or suffer the consequences. Kitty only laughs at Arline. Back in New York Chubb Osmund says he'll kill himself unless Kitty marries him.

Now Go On

"This is where tired business men take their stenographers so that won't be recognized," Chubb explained.

He had his hip flask with him but Viola and I decided we wouldn't risk the stuff.

As we ate Chubb tried to talk seriously. He assured me that he had sufficient income for life settled on him that we could travel, have a good home and be happy.

He sipped his drink and pouted. His voice was low and almost a whine and finally he slouched down, his triple chin on his dinner shirt front.

He's clever," Viola whispered.

VISITS CORA

She was right. That was why he had pulled his silly stunt. Her wise waiter brought a smelling salts bottle, but it had strong ammonia in it. A few whiffs of that surreptitiously administered and Chubb snapped out of it enough to finish the dinner and take us out.

"Leave your car and take us home in a taxi. When you are sober you can go back for it," I told him.

"Anything Katie says goes with me," he murmured.

At home we gave him some stuff, bromo, black coffee and things like that. Chubb was sorry when he was sober. It was the first time I had seen him like that. We couldn't get mad at him and after he left us we laughed for 15 minutes.

Imagine being married to that, compare him with Forrest," I said.

I can't imagine you married to Forrest."

What do you mean, Viola?"

He isn't the marrying type."

Watch little Katie lead him to the altar," I boasted.

Little Katie better watch herself," Viola flashed and then she kissed me and said that I was to forget it.

The following Sunday I visited my sister again. Viola had made a flying trip upstate to see her mother who had been sick. I expected that Cora would again tip Peter Thompson to be there, but if she did tip him about my visit he didn't show up. That suited me all right, because we would just get into a silly argument or he would spring something about the wild party at Susie's and I didn't care to have Cora lecture me about that.

Cora's husband was prospering. She kept a maid and a sort of governess nurse for her two kiddies by her first husband and for her little son by her second marriage.

Katie you should be getting married," she said.

Perhaps," I admitted grudgingly.

At your age I was married and had two babies.

Time enough," I said with a laugh. I was laughing at the idea of marrying Forrest and having children. He didn't strike me as one who would care for that and I couldn't see myself tied down with a family when I might be having a good time.

Peter is prospering," she said meaningly after a little silence.

FEELS ASHAMED

I don't care if he can buy and sell Henry Ford, you can't make a match there, Cora. I haven't any use for his sort.

Be careful he doesn't have any use for your sort, dear," she said.

Don't preach. You know I have always taken care of myself and I will keep right on doing it.

There is always a first time, always a chance of getting silly after too many drinks. Oh, I know your creed, Kitty.

You are a dear, but we are different. I'd die if I couldn't have life and gayety."

I suppose so," she said.

A little later she came in with the youngest. He was just awake from a nap and his eyes were like mine and my father's—deep blue. Cora put him in my arms. Baby smiled at me and I hugged him closely to me. It was a queer feeling, his warm little body against my bosom. I couldn't understand it, but my heart was beating faster.

That is the way a young woman should look, that is real beauty, the beauty God intended for the lot of every good girl," Cora said.

I passed baby over to her without comment. Cora made me feel queer, a little ashamed. I was glad when it was train time.

The following week Forrest had another party at his place. Viola was out with the English friend she met at Susie's weekend party.

The crowd at Forrest's roof apartment was larger and jollier than ever and Fanny Hutton was there.

I expected she would be sore but if she was she didn't show it. She was nice and jolly.

More stage people were there and the entertainment was unusually good. Forrest's Jap boy was gliding in and out serving drinks.

The party broke up shortly after three and I went down with the second and last elevator load. Forrest had a private elevator over in a corner of the foyer express to his roof cottage.

PROMISES TO RETURN

I saw the old scrub woman there—the one Forrest had cursed for leaving some soap about. She seemed to recognize me and smiled. I smiled back at her and decided that the next time I came I would have a five dollar bill folded up to slip to her.

Oh," Forrest said, drawing me aside over close to where the scrub woman was kneeling, wringing out a cloth, "I forgot to show you those Bohemian jewels I brought home for you. Can't you take a turn around the block and sneak back?"

Not so late, Forrest, but I'm dying to see them," I answered.

All right. You said you were going out with some of Susie Taylor's crowd tomorrow night. Plead a headache at midnight and come over here, we can see the jewels then. No need to get good old Fanny sore, is there, darling?

I could come for a few minutes, Forrest.

Fine, come at midnight, alone, will you?"

I sure will," I promised.

I turned to smile at the old scrub woman. She was staring at me almost as though she were frightened. I wondered if she had heard what we said. Poor, narrow-minded old soul, she would put a wrong meaning to it.

Fanny Dutton spied us and came toward us.

Remember, alone at midnight, dearest," Forrest whispered, hurriedly.

I promise," I said.

DAILY SHORT STORY

A Natural Wit

(All names of characters in this story are fictitious.)

Police Chief Outwitted by Autoist in Court

Bert Hadley, who worked steadily in the Springdale box factory, believed that he wanted to marry Irma Jackson.

Irma was quite attractive, and decidedly fickle minded. Bert didn't know about her fickleness. He hadn't come to the proposing point yet. He had been promised the job of foreman in the big assembling room of the factory, when the present foreman left to go up north and care for his aged parents on the farm, which would be in another month.

Just as soon as he got this promotion, Bert figured, he would ask Irma to marry him. He felt that she would agree, for she was certainly nice to him and gave every indication of being in love with him.

Irma was that way with every young man, but Bert wouldn't know that.

Irma's father was the chief of the Springdale police force, consisting of six men. Irma was proud of this. It gave her quite a social standing in the town. And Chief Jackson was keenly interested in his daughter. He wanted her to marry well, and he hoped it would be soon, because he could then marry the Widow Simpson. He would not bring a step-mother home to Irma, but when she married all would be well.

You going to marry Bert?" Irma's father asked her.

I don't know, dad."

Who does if you don't?"

Irma giggled.

He wants to marry you, anybody can see that. He's a good, steady boy.

Yes," said Irma.

And then young Mr. Harold Kennedy came to Springdale. Harold was tall. He had wavy black hair and large eyes that girls considered to be beautiful and romantic. They, the eyes, were really more bovine than romantic or beautiful, due to the fact that Harold had somewhat of a dull bovine mind.

FALLS FOR HAROLD

He came to work in the Blue Front drug store, because he was a graduate pharmacist.

Harold looked around for pretty girls. He had a weakness for pretty girls, and girls had a weakness for Harold because he looked just like a movie hero.

As far as Harold could see, Irma Jackson was the prettiest girl in town.

And when Irma went into the drug store and saw Harold, she fell for him instantly.

A few nights later, when Bert Hadley went around to Irma's home to visit her and to tell her that in three more weeks he would be foreman over at the factory, he found a tall, wavy-haired, pink-cheeked young man draped across the glider hammock, and Irma sitting very close to him, exceedingly close.

Bert, meet my friend, Mr. Kennedy," Irma said.

How do you do?" Bert said, gravely.

I do pretty well," Harold assured him and Irma giggled.

He says the funniest things," she informed Bert.

Bert sat down on the veranda steps. Irma had neglected to suggest that he sit down.

Yes, of course he does, didn't you hear him say that he did pretty well? He certainly can make a person laugh, he is a natural wit."

SMART YOUNG MAN

Oh, I was a little just for fun out of laughing gas," Harold drawled and winked again at Irma.

Irma screamed with laughter.

Didn't I tell you?" she said to Bert.

Bert stared at the handsome Harold and realized that this chap might seem funny to Irma but to himself the newcomer to town was just a pain in the neck.

Make me laugh, will you?" Bert said, slowly.

Harold blinked. He had no retort.

Don't be an dumb Bert," Irma said, angrily, "you might pretend to have a sense of humor, anyway."

I don't know. I can usually tell when anything is laughable when I see it," and Bert stared hard at Harold, then he began to laugh.

Harold sat up and flushed. He had become vibrant. Irma glared at Bert.

You'll have to excuse us, Bert, we're going to the movies," Irma said, and then she added, "come over again, some time, when you happen to be around this way."

Chief Jackson found out about Harold as he did about any strange young man who began to go about with his daughter.

There's a smart young man," he said to Irma one night after Harold left for his boarding house.

He's wonderful," Irma agreed.

Yes, sir, he's a graduate—er—druggist, and he gets $40 a week. There's a young man you ought to grab. You could get the Smith house for pretty cheap rent. I could fix that and forty a week in this town is nothing to sneeze at. Bert Hadley is a good enough boy, but he only gets 24 a week."

Oh, Bert Hadley—I just went around with him to go to places. I wouldn't marry a factory hand anyway," Irma declared.

Bert still thought that he wanted to marry Irma and, being rather a stubborn young man he managed to go over one room and tell her about his desire to marry her.

Don't be a sil, Bert," Irma said, "we're good friends, but goodness knows I never thought of marrying you."

Before that, Kennedy, sap came, or since?" Bert asked.

Bert knew right then that even if he could marry Irma, he wouldn't. He wasn't at all heart-broken, for he had a new viewpoint. He had found that she was fickle, shallow and silly, with a sharp tongue.

It was at this time that his Aunt Sara's money came to him. She had been dead a year. She had lived in a cheap little cottage over in the next county and Bert got the impression from his lawyer that the house might bring six hundred and that would be the extent of his legacy.

To his surprise his aunt had been locking money away for years and there was, besides the cheap little cottage, a little more than seven thousand in cash.

Bert put it in the bank.

Harold Kennedy bought a car, it was a cheap little car, one of the sort that jokes have been made about.

And so Bert bought a car. It was a good car, long and sporty and speedy, glistening with yellow and brown enamel. He got up courage to ask Maude Larson, stenographer in the factory office, to go for a ride with him.

Maude was pleased to go.

To Bert's surprise Maude was exceedingly beautiful and rather classy when she was dressed in her spare clothes. He had never seen her except in her office clothes.

Bert drove down Maple street rather slowly.

Harold was just helping Irma into his shiny little car.

ENJOYS VACATION

Irma stared in surprised that she forgot to return Maude's pleasant greeting. Harold came speeding down the street a minute later and passed Bert with a suggestive gesture.

Bert moved up and got abreast of Harold. Harold tried to shoot ahead, but he couldn't lose Bert. When they got out on the country highway and came to Dead Horse Hill Bert's car made the grade with ease, leaving Harold behind. At the top of the hill Bert stopped.

When Harold got there Bert said, "I was admiring the view from here, it's a great view. Of course it isn't funny and I suppose you'd rather have something funny, Irma?"

Irma tossed her head and made no reply.

Bert took a two weeks' vacation, because at the end of the time he was going back as foreman.

Maude took her vacation at the same time.

Bert discovered that Maude's mother was a wonderful cook and he enjoyed the many dinners he had there. He took Maude's mother riding a great deal, along with Maude. And he suddenly discovered that he wanted to marry Maude.

He asked her about it, in his straightforward way, and was delighted to learn that Maude had hoped he would want to do that very thing. Maude's mother took her to the city for a few days to shop for her trousseau and household goods. Bert had his house painted and went along to the city to pick out furniture with Maude. Then he came home.

Irma saw him in the drug store. Half a dozen people were there.

Anyway," Irma said to a friend, "Harold's car is paid for."

When she got home Bert's car was parked in front of her house, right behind Harold's. The difference was noticeable.

INVITED TO WEDDING

Bert was not to be seen.

He came back and got his car, was gone a few minutes and parked it in front of Harold's car.

He repeated this and Irma telephoned for her father. He came home and put a tag on Bert's car for parking more than an hour.

In court next day Bert explained that at no time had he parked more than an hour, then he drove away and came back and parked again. He maintained that it was perfectly legal.

Old Judge Mather nodded.

Chief," he said to Jackson, "the young man is right. You drew up that ordinance yourself, you know."

Outside Jackson cornered Bert and said that he would punch his face if he tried to annoy Irma again.

Let's go home and make Irma speak to me. I tried a dozen times yesterday. I want to tell her something," Bert said.

They went.

I want to invite you to my wedding because you're a pretty good scout, Irma, and I want to tip you that Harold's wife, who is coming next week, will yank your hair out if she hears about you running around with Harold!"

Harold drove up then.

Irma greeted him with a slap that jolted him. "I know all about your wife," she screamed at him.

Make me laugh, Harold," Bert said, "say something funny."

Er—er—" and Harold stopped there.

Irma screamed with laughter at this.

Bert," she said, "you are just a natural wit!"

A Sorry Excuse

The Explanation for the Three Days of Free Parking Reflects Discredit on the Administration.

A striking example of inefficiency and incompetency in the Kline administration may be found in the explanation given Council for the failure of the police on three days recently to collect parking fees at the Monongahela wharf.

The Building Owners and Managers Association, anxious that the city shall lose no revenue, so that there may be no excuse for adding to the taxpayers' burden, complained to Council about the remissness of the police.

Director Clark, of the Public Safety Department, explained that the department had run out of parking tags and that the Department of Supplies had not honored, even after a month's notice, a requisition for a new supply.

He hinted that if the police attendants had collected parking fees without issuing tags they might have been tempted to pocket the money instead of turning it into the city treasury. Consequently, "to avoid putting temptation in their way," it was decided to let motorists park free of charge.

The explanation reflects discredit on the Department of Safety and the Department of Supplies.

The Poor Board Audit

Directors Pursued a Short Sighted Policy in Being Secretive About the Public Business.

The County Commissioners have ordered an audit of the affairs of the Board of Poor Directors.

The County Solicitor has expressed the opinion that the Commissioners do not possess the authority to make such an investigation. The Poor Directors say they will, nevertheless, place no obstacles in the way of the inquiry.

They are now pursuing a more sensible policy than they followed a few weeks ago, when they are reported to have refused to tell newspaper reporters how they spent the taxpayers' money entrusted to them.

Unless they really had something to conceal, they made a great mistake in being secretive. The taxpayers resent it when public officials act as if the public business were their own private concern and arrogantly decline to answer questions about it.

The Coal Situation

Large Operators Are Making a Mistake in Refusing to Attend the Proposed Conference.

The situation in the soft coal industry shows no signs of improvement, and there are many who predict that unless the operators and miners get together on a concerted plan for action it will become worse.

Appeals have been made to the governors of Pennsylvania and other states to furnish National Guard tents for the families of miners who have been evicted from their homes.

The Rev. James Myers, industrial secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, who has been visiting mining camps in the Pittsburgh district, says he fears further violence on the part of miners made desperate by the suffering of their wives and children.

The large coal operators who have refused to attend the proposed conference under United States government auspices to consider the situation have assumed a serious responsibility.

They are making a mistake in withholding their support from the movement, for even though they see nothing to gain from the parley they are injuring their reputation by thus obstructing what seems to be a genuine effort to lift the industry out of the morass into which it has fallen.

It is gratifying to see Secretaries Lamont and Doak going ahead with the plan notwithstanding the large operators' attitude. Even a conference of small operators may accomplish something.

The New Firearms Law

There Is Encouragement in a Statement About the Effect of Such Legislation Elsewhere.

Thomas A. Merryweather, special agent of the Philadelphia Criminal Justice Association, made a speech before the Sheriffs' Association of Pennsylvania at Erie Tuesday which should be encouraging to those who are worried over the prevalence of crimes of violence.

He praised the law passed at the recent session of the Legislature which regulates the sale and carrying of firearms. Murder and other crimes have decreased, Mr. Merryweather said, in other states which have adopted similar legislation.

The police authorities have been strongly in favor of a stricter law for the regulation of firearms, and now that they have it we hope they will enforce it to the limit.

Apart from the police there are probably very few persons who carry pistols except for some evil purpose.

Better Rural Schools

The Passing of the One Room Structures Is an Improvement We Owe to the Automobile.

The State Health Department has been investigating some of the one-room rural schools in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, and as a result it is proposed to do away with a number of such buildings in Armstrong and Beaver Counties. They will be replaced with consolidated schools of many rooms comparing favorably with the best of the city schools.

The schools investigated were found to be in poor physical condition and with insanitary surroundings. The new schools will be better buildings and have better sewage disposal and better sources of water supply.

Scarcely less important is the improvement in educational facilities that will be afforded by consolidating a number of these one-room schools into a large centrally located institution.

It is not to be forgotten that we owe these superior rural schools to automobiles and improved roads, which have made it possible for children to attend them who, before the invention of the motor car, would have had to go to school on foot.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. MUNDY

If you fret and talk about the weather, naturally you experience great discomfiture.

You can't change it, so why complain about it?

The more effort to keep cool and still do your work the greater the annoyance to you and those who must listen to your groans and fussing.

You wonder at the complacency of certain ones in your establishment in trying heat.

They seem to get along without much discomfort.

They keep their minds on other things and can work with almost undiminished energy and interest.

Perhaps you think they do not suffer as you do.

Perhaps they don't, but this is because they have not added to the severity of the temperature by working themselves into a feverish state on account of it.

It takes will power to control your thoughts.

Those who get the most out of life are those who accept what they have no power to overcome.

Many conditions in life require this sort of philosophy.

It is easy but foolish to lose control of yourself in hot weather.

FRANCE DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

PARIS—By Mail.—Late yesterday the new president of [illegible] whisked through the streets in his auto from the Longchamps races to his lofty Elysee palace. It was practically his first appearance since the inauguration. There were hand waves and huzzahs but the enthusiasm was like warm.

The truth is France is a republic with pronounced monarchial leanings. Queen Wilhelmina coming over from Holland to see the exposition needs almost an army to protect her from the crush. The King of Spain, the Prince of Wales and other royal playboys have to come incognito to avoid the mob.

The reverence for Napoleon is an outstanding characteristic of the Parisian. One of the surefire methods of jolting a taxi driver out of his usual pout is to ask him to drive to the Emperor's tomb. The Frenchman realizes that only through a dictator has Paris been made the extraordinarily beautiful city it is.

Physically there have been few changes in Paris since Napoleon's day. As a dictator he could look out a palace window and observe:

"There's a lousey part of town. Let's run a boulevard through it." And behold a Champs Elysees or a Place de la Concorde!

The decaying grandeur that is Versailles and responsible more than anything else for the twilight of kings will ever kindle the spirit of reverence among the populace. The true Frenchman has a gaudy eye. He loves royal trappings and all the sundry insignia of pomp and power.

Yet to me the suffocating splendor of Paris is in a short while nauseating. Even this morning I have been sitting at my typewriter wondering just why I am here. And if I can't think of a good reason in a few days I'm going to move on. The wild open spaces.

Just now the hotel valet de chambre came in to make the beds. He is a senile soul puttering around on tip toe as a gesture of self-effacement. I have endured him with patient resignation for 10 days but if he doesn't do something about clipping those tufts of hair sprouting from his ears I expect to race screaming through the Place Vendome any day now.

It has become unfair. I sometimes wish I could not remember the language. Among fashionables to partake of chicken liver breakfasts in front of Foquet's on Champs Elysees. Among those I saw while strolling by there today were Count Salm, Al Woods, the theatrical producer and at an obscure table that tragic figure known as "France's living dead man"—Capt. Alfred Dreyfus.

The French waiter has become resentful of being addressed as "garcon" and his guild holds weekly meeting of protest. He wants the elegant title of "Monsieur garcon." For example, he points to the more respectful attitude in Germany where the kellner or waiter is greeted as "Herr kellner." I'm willing for one to call him the most grandiloquent name in France and toss in a royal salaam so long as he permits us to chirrup to him like we do the horse at home. It is more fun.

Hors d'oeuvre stands, of which Bob Brinkerhoff is roughly six, will find a paradise at the Brasserie Universelle, where daily at luncheon there are 43 varieties on display in three tiers. And not so far away is The Rendezvous of the Mariner, a seaman's hangout with napkins in rings hung on the wall behind each chair. It is the first time I've seen napkin rings since leaving Missouri, where I was teethed on one.

* * *

And it is rather amusing how the corner saloons absorb the nomenclature of their surroundings. Thus cater-cornered from the beautiful edifice Notre Dame is the Cafe Notre Dame. Incidentally, walking around Notre Dame in the moonlight is worth the buggy ride over. Last night my wife and I circled it twice after the theater and in its vast silence broken only by the soft curring of pigeons we actually found ourselves holding our breath. Another round and I would have been reciting.

I tried unsuccessfully to highhat one of those international barflies who spotted me at a table in front of Oscar Wilde's favorite rendezvous, La Closerie des Lilas, today. He inquired:

"You are not O. O. McIntyre by any chance?" I replied: "I'm O. O. McIntyre but not by mere chance. It was a special act of Providence." Yet this did not prevent him from pulling up his chair and radging two five franc drinks.

WHAT IS ETHER?

By Archibald Henderson

One of the most difficult of all physical phenomena to explain is what is known as action at a distance. The great Sir Isaac Newton himself declared that it was impossible to conceive of direct action at a distance. And yet we know that radiant energy in the form of heat reaches us from the sun, which is some 93,000,000 miles distant. Electric waves travel at the same rate as light, and there is no appreciable interval between the striking of a note on the piano in New York and its reception by a listener in Chicago.

How do these things travel? Through what media do these forces pass? How is this action at a distance" accomplished?

It was long ago demonstrated that ordinary air, the atmosphere is inadequate to carry the stresses and strains of these mighty forces. Are they "carried" by some form of matter? In his work, "the Ether of Space, Sir Oliver Lodge says:

"No form of ordinary matter, solid, liquid or gaseous, is competent to transmit a thing with the speed of light. For the resistance of radiation or light all ordinary matter is not only incompetent, but hopelessly and absurdly incompetent. Yet it is thick with a tenacity of 30 tons per square inch.

"Cosmic rays are impinging upon us all the time with almost unbelievable penetrating power. It is now believed that these cosmic rays are capable of penetrating a sheet of lead upward of a yard thick.

"We know that ether is neither matter nor atmosphere, yet we do not yet know what it is. Certainly it possesses the quality of being strained and has the property of exerting stress and recoil. It is probable that some such medium as the ether exists, since it is necessary as a carrier of wave motion. It will be a great day for physical science since when it is accurately known just what this carrier, ether or what not, really is."

Text for Today Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.—Romans xiii:10.

(The text for today is suggested by the Rev. B. J. Muller, pastor Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, North Side.)

Intermarriage? Yes

But What About These?

SOME SPECIMENS HARDLY "ELIGIBLE"

Sir Arthur Keith, learned British scientist, says "pooling of blood" is the only thing that will bring "international brotherhood and world peace."

He wants all peoples to mix in marriage and thus produce a race in which all would be represented and race hatred would die out.

Sir Arthur says, truly, that every race, from the humble bushmen to the hardy Nordics, would contribute something to such "blood pooling."

Every race, says he, "black, brown, yellow and white," would thus "distribute in a common progeny the inheritance which each has come by in their uphill struggle through the leagues of prehistoric time toward the present."

It is all interesting, but somewhat remote.

What about the savage ladies and gentlemen in the picture above with their distended lips, making their faces hideous? What white man or woman will marry one of them?

And there are other samples of human beings right here in our modern civilization and WHITE, a great deal more undesirable than these in the picture.

In the end, doubtless, perhaps a million years from now, possibly much sooner, there will be only "one human race" on earth.

It will inherit, let us hope, the genius, good qualities, power, intellect of all the races that have gone before, and will have eliminated all the murderers, grasping, selfish, treacherous qualities.

But all that is speculation.

That universal perfected race might come by intermarriage, or "blood pooling." But a better race may come in future, as better races have come in the past, by killing off inferior races.

There was a time not long ago when Providence seemed to work in its own mysterious ways for our improvement. Famines, plagues, wars killed off the less able.

But now philanthropy protects all the different races, keeps them alive, saving them from plague with the help of science and from famine with modern agriculture.

There is in every race, even with the "lower classes," so-called in each race, hatred of blood mixture. In British colonies "half-caste" children mixtures of white and native are practically outcasts.

And biologists assert that certain races cannot be successfully mixed, because the progeny inherits all the bad qualities and none of the good qualities of each parent. Some biologists believe that our false civilization threatens the wise plans of Providence by keeping alive the inferiors, with not enough "superiors" to preserve a balance.

The average moron, or semi-moron, has more children, three to one, than the average college professor or learned lady "high-brow."

But probably all that is arranged by a Wisdom far above our conception.

We have struggled along, moving upward steadily since the Stone Age, 12,000 years ago. It is to be presumed that we shall struggle through the next million years and the next ten million years with equal success and steady improvement.

There is no doubt whatever that race mixtures among human beings have increased their power and developed civilization.

The most mixed race and the greatest in antiquity was the Greek race.

Next came the Romans, with a contribution from all races, and greatest in their time. Then came the French, a mixture of Romans, Gauls, Germans, Basques, all strange mixtures, and France was the greatest race.

Then came the English, perhaps most thoroughly mixed of all, and then the United States, and we are not doing so badly.

The greatest, most successful race in Asia, the Japanese, is the most mixed race there.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Is your life somehow empty?

Do you feel sometimes as though you were fumbling . . . fumbling . . . through the dark, reaching for something you cannot name?

Once you were so sure that you know what would bring you content. Pleasure . . . adventure . . . love . . . power . . . success. Ease and luxury . . . freedom from worry. Well, the years have passed, and, in a measure, your wishes have come true. You've had what you wanted. Not all you wanted, but enough to bring content, if content can come that way. And yet you're still not happy. Life, yet somehow, is empty.

Strange, isn't it? Strange that we Americans, with all our cleverness, our power, our wealth, can never be satisfied. Always we must go around with that hunger in our hearts . . . seeking something . . . seeking what?

Are all men like that? Or do some men really find peace, a warming glory and a filling content that nothing can take away?

There's a letter in my mail this morning. A blue morning . . . one of those mornings when nothing seems worth while. Why not? Flowers at the window . . . food on the table . . . why does nothing seem worth while. And then this letter. Like a door opening into a little room where once you have not been for a very long time.

"There is a Negro colony on the eastern shore of Maryland, unbelievably isolated," she writes. "In the midst of this community stands a small mission. It is made of rough, whitewashed boards and a rudely constructed cross tops it. Inside, the ceiling and walls are covered with burlap bags, whitewashed also, and at the front is a small platform of boxes for the preacher.

"There is a Bible on a small table before the platform, that has been read and studied until there isn't a whole page left in it. Posted above the table is a terribly misspelled copy of the baptismal rite. There is also a small pump organ . . . five long wooden benches . . . and an oil lamp with a reflector made from an old pair of scales.

"The organ scarcely plays, but when that congregation starts to sing and the preacher begins his sermon, I'll wager no one starts whispering gossip to kill time. No! They sit there with their simple souls shining in a glory in their eyes, worshiping their God because they love to, not because it's a duty or an old American custom.

"They're not worrying about depression, the stock market crash or political graft. They're not blaming God for their troubles, they're thanking him for their blessings. And yet some of them don't know where the next meal is coming from.

"Many a willing hand went into the making of that chapel; patience and care and love fashioned it . . . and God is there. You can feel His very presence . . . These black children of God, what they couldn't teach us! The white man can scorn the Negro for his ignorance, his laziness, his dishonesty, but when it comes to religion, it's hats off!"

Ragged, ignorant, helpless, hungry—shut away from wealth and power by white scorn and black skin—yet happy. You and I miserable with a thousand things in our hands. But they . . . whitewashed sacks and weather-beaten boards and a bench set close to the yellow clay. BUT GOD IS THERE. Is that the answer?

CITY TO REPAIR DANGEROUS BRIDGES

New Street and Sewer Work Also Included in Program Requiring $420,000 Bonds

East End bridges, streets and sewers are included in the $420,000 improvement program launched by City Council, to be financed by the sale of serial bonds.

Major improvement projects include repair of Panther Hollow and Pittsburgh Junction Railroad bridges in Schenley Park. Chief Engineer Reppert declared that both structures are in dangerous condition and advocated appropriation of $140,000 for repairs.

Extension of Fifty-fifth and Fifty-seventh street sewers, relief sewers in Farragut and Stanton streets, and another in Courtland, Blair and Melancthon streets, were urged.

New Citizen Club Protests Conditions in Borough And Opens Ballot Fight

Dissatisfied with municipal conditions in general, the new Citizens' Club of North Braddock will meet tomorrow night at the summer home of M. S. Koontz to plan their independent campaign for borough and school board offices.

N. W. McGinty, president, said yesterday that the newly-formed organization probably will iron out its choices for county officers at tomorrow's meeting, pending recommendations by Burgess Mitchell, who heads the independent movement.

The slate thus far indorsed by the club is composed of Michael Wagasky, Council; M. S. Koontz, A. G. Wallace and Peter Beverage, school directors, and Siegfield Pletz for constable.

Club officers and members charge that the borough faces a $160,000 deficit. President McGinty said:

"The citizens of North Braddock, about 160 at present, have banded together to correct this condition. This independent movement before we are through will spread throughout the valley."

100,000 TO GET NEW BATHING FACILITIES

Accommodations for 10,000 At One Time Provided In Incompleted Structure

Highland Park swimming pool, the city's biggest, costing $241,000, probably will be opened Saturday, according to present plans. Two large pools and the bathhouse are being made ready for use by then, although the entire structure will not be completed, according to city engineers.

Attaches in the office of the Department of Public Works said yesterday that the department is making every effort to complete the three principal sections of the recreation center but was not absolutely certain that they would be ready in time.

Within walking distance of 100,000 persons, the new pool will accommodate 10,000 bathers at one time. At the close of the present outdoor swimming season, a wading pool, walks, beaches and underwater lighting equipment will be installed.

The deep pool is 220 by 90 feet and at its greatest depth is 9½ feet. The bathing pool is 220 feet square and 4½ feet deep. The proposed wading pool will be surrounded by a sand beach and will be 50 by 100 feet in area.

A feature of the new pool is the large bathhouse which is equipped with hot and cold individual showers.

The filtration system installed for these three pools is equal to that of the waterworks department of a city of 20,000, according to Nathan Schein, engineer in charge of construction.

FIGHT CLASSICS DRAW THRONGS TO BOWL

Braddock Arena Expecting Another Big Crowd to See Griffiths-Rocco Battle

It took the "natural" bout between Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, and Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, arch rivals of the ring, to turn the Meyers Bowl into a paying proposition this season. Until this pair went into action Monday night of last week, the club was considerably in the "red" and desperate for a solution of its problem of getting the fans to attend as they did in the preceding two seasons.

McTiernan and Belmont packed in the fans to the extent of a $5,500 gate on a threatening night, and the battle was so good that the pair have been rematched for Monday night, August 17. Belmont won the first skirmish with a knockout in the fourth round after McTiernan had outfought him handily up to that point. A left to the jaw was the deciding factor.

Following on the heels of this paying venture came the Ted Yarosz-Bucky Lawless engagement of last Monday night, which attracted an even larger crowd than the Belmont-McTiernan affair, and indications are that the first appearance of Tuffy Griffiths, heavyweight contender, of Chicago, at the Bowl against Emmett Rocco, of Ellwood City, next Monday night, will draw another huge turnout.

The use of local boxers with followings has proved the salvation of the Bowl. Now that the corner has been turned, it promises to end its season in a blaze of financial as well as fistic glory.

FISHERMEN GET NEW CASTING PLATFORM

Other Improvements Planned By City at Highland Park In Interest of Sport

The first of several improvements planned for Highland Park was instituted last Saturday when the new casting platform in Lake Carnegie was formally turned over to the public by Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works.

C. E. Ward, president of the local chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America, accepted the platform on behalf of his organization and the Pittsburgh Casting Club, both of which number among their members many of the leading sportsmen of the community.

According to Director Lang among other improvements contemplated is a sandy beach along the lake.

Fly-casting is a popular sport with anglers and their number is gradually increasing. Born from a competitive standpoint and that of spectators it is a pleasant pastime, and it is expected much pleasure will be derived from the platform erected to sponsor the sport.

Many leading business and professional men of the East End district participated in the dedication ceremonies.

NEW SYNAGOGUE DEDICATED

Impressive ceremonies marked the dedication of the new $100,000 Beth Shalom Synagogue, Beacon avenue and Beacon street, Squirrel Hill, Sunday. Rabbi Goodman A. Rose delivered the dedication address. Other speakers included M. J. Abner, president, and Max Pearlman, chairman of the building committee.

One of the most striking moments of the ceremony was the lighting of the perpetual light, symbol of faith. A procession of 15 members carried holy scrolls from the old building into the new synagogue.

Abe Caplan was chairman of the dedication committee assisted by Joseph Landau, I. W. Goldbloom and Harry Weisberger and their various sub-committees.

MEET ARRANGED BY CATHOLIC WOMEN

Eleventh Annual Diocesan Convention in September To Open in Cathedral

The eleventh diocesan convention of the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women will be held here September 23 and 24, with headquarters in Webster Hall.

The convention will open with solemn mass in St. Paul's Cathedral at 10 a. m., with Bishop Hugh C. Boyle and attending clergy in the sanctuary. Miss Mary T. Hogan, president of the council, will preside at a business meeting to follow in Synod Hall.

The council house, 2216 Penn avenue, will be the scene of an informal reception and musicale on the first night of the convention, with the Queen's Daughters as hostesses.

Chairman

MISS RACHEL A. GOOD

72, HE KEEPS 55 YEAR PLEDGE

NEW YORK (INS)—Although it seems impossible that a man can keep a promise 55 years with utter faithfulness, Herman F. A. Michels, 72, has accomplished what he considers to be a task at that.

It was 55 years ago that his father, Barthold Michels, said to him:

"Herman, two things I want you should do. My business after I am gone, you must carry on and it would be a fine thing if you should play the organ at our church like I do."

After giving his second promise he began to take organ lessons when he was free from selling cheese and eggs in Washington Market. Two years later he succeeded his father as organist in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Jersey City and still holds that position as well as that of wholesale and retail dealer in the market.

However, he has one regret. That of being absent 10 Sundays in the 55 years from the organ loft of the church. But each time his absence was caused by a severe illness.

HONOR PIONEER INSURANCE MAN

CHICAGO (AP)—A $1,000,000 memorial to Elisur Wright, the Connecticut Yankee who was America's first insurance agent, will be erected by the nation's 250,000 insurance men under plans made by the executive committee of the national convention of insurance commissioners.

A committee of four state insurance commissioners has been named by the executive committee, in session here, to complete the plans and report to the annual convention of insurance commissioners at Portland, Ore., next September.

Wright, who died in 1885 at the age of 81, founded the local reserve system of life insurance, became the first insurance agent in the world, the first actuary and the first insurance commissioner appointed by law, the insurance men said.

Waterfalls Trail Built in Rockies

GLACIER PARK, Mont.—Eight hundred miles of horse and hiking trails in Glacier National Park have been augmented by the completion of Many Falls Trail, thus named because it will afford visitors, hikers and horseback riders, a view of 12 cataracts and waterfalls.

The new trail is 13 miles in length and it provides tourists a new route from Going-to-the-Sun Chalets, around the shore of St. Mary's Lake, to Red Eagle Lake.

White and Green Favored in Styles

WASHINGTON (AP)—White and green are proving one of the smartest combinations for afternoon wear.

One striking model of white sheer material has a skirt of fine pleats made in two tiers. The section of each tier is formed in scallops edged in green.

A white net dress with a green taffeta jacket has many rows of tucks running round the skirt.

Long Fur Coats Won't be Stylish

PARIS (AP)—Full-length fur coats will be out of the style picture for the smart debutante next winter, latest reports from Parisian confiturers say. The new coats are being made in three lengths and designs, tightly-fitted short jackets, straight-line knee length coats, and wraps ending two or three inches above the hemline.

4TH CENTURY CROSS FOUND

NAPLES (INS)—During the work of preparation in the basilica and catacombs of San Pietro, a cross, a symbol of great significance in early Christian and Roman history, was found.

The cross, incised in the wall of a niche with the Mater Dolorosa on the right, St. John on the left and St. Mark above. On the reverse is a representation of the Resurrection.

A careful study of the cross and the epoch in which it is assigned has led to the conclusion that it is one of the three martyr's crosses erected made by Constantine the Great at the beginning of the Fourth century. One of these, it is said, is the basis of the altar between here and Rome. If the cross found at San Pietro proves to be a second cross of Constantine, the discovery will have the greatest interest and a systematic search for the third one may be instituted.

Snail Kills Snake To Save Goldfish

DENVER (INS)—A snake, killing snail has not made up as powerful as the prologue to Antony to Cecil F. Pace of Denver. Instead, it has been cast in the role of the snail.

The first snake discovered recently in Pace's goldfish pond. Then the snail appeared. Later, the snake's head and body were found, partially eaten. It was the snail who had killed the snake.

'Mounties' in Auto Fail to Get Man

SASKATOON—Three armed bandits, who recently engaged Royal Canadian Mounted Police in a gun battle in automobiles traveling at 50 miles an hour on a highway near here, are still at large.

The men, when met by police, were making their escape after having held up the Royal Bank employee on a street at here getting $937.

TALKIES USED IN CLASSROOM

LOS ANGELES (INS)—A new method in education which is expected to become a part of the teaching systems in many schools throughout the country has been inaugurated at the University of California at Los Angeles.

A four weeks' course of educational talking pictures is a part of the summer program to acquaint teachers with the merits of the plan.

The talking pictures were produced with the help of several of the nation's most prominent educators. Dean Gordon S. Watkins of U. C. L. A. said the talking picture method of teaching brings the efforts of the most famous educators to students who otherwise would be unable to profit by them.

Mix to Quit Circus To Return to Films

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (INS)—Tom Mix, original cowboy screen star whose portrayal of daring exploits drama ancient films has made him known to millions of children and adults, is to return to the screen after an absence of several years, Mix will report for work after he finishes engagement ends in October, it is said. The film contract will call for a series of western pictures probably to be patterned after the original epics of wild west days. With the added appeal of talking sequences and Mix's popularity, the films are expected to attract considerable attention.

Attendance Record For Sunday Schools

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—E. F. Lewis of Raleigh, N. C., attended two Sunday schools here one day for his 1,161 consecutive Sunday attendance record that is said to be recognized in the United States, Canada, England and France.

Lewis is 64 years old. Once he was carried to church from a hospital to preserve his record.

Vacation Finds Skinners Up In Air

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Now that school is out for the summer, the Skinner family will resume aerial activities.

B. G. Skinner, Sr., holds a transport license. Bruce, 14, the son, took a solo flight after three weeks' instruction and aims at equal rank with his father.

Vivian, the daughter, is seeking a student's certificate, and Mrs. Skinner has been a pupil for some time.

FAIRS WILL HEAR 'TALKING HEN'

BOSTON (INS)—The "talking hen" is being prepared for introduction to the crowds at agricultural fairs in Massachusetts this summer.

The "talking hen" will tell for the first time her own story of what a wonderful factory she is and how eggs are produced and supplied to the consumer.

The exhibit is an exact duplicate of the one prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture for the world's poultry congress in London last year.

Another feature of the Massachusetts fair circuit this season, according to A. W. Lombard, secretary of the Massachusetts Agricultural Fairs Association, will be the special livestock exhibit showing importance of production in connection with the dairy industry.

Four Huge Cables To Support Bridge

NEW YORK (AP)—Four cables, each containing 28,474 parallel wires compressed into a diameter of 36 inches, are required to support the suspension bridge across the Hudson River, construction of which is nearing completion. The wire in the four cables weighs 28,067 tons.

OLD POSTOFFICE SITE SOLD

The property formerly occupied by the Squirrel Hill branch of the Pittsburgh Postoffice in Forbes street, between Murray and Shady avenues, has been sold by Jenny M. Kay to H. T. Little for $40,000.

The sale was announced late yesterday by Robert F. Morris, Jr., representative of the Commonwealth Real Estate Company, brokers in the transaction.

According to Morris, the lot measures 76x132 feet. A one-story brick building is on the property.

Morris also reports that the Commonwealth Real Estate Company has sold for P. C. Murdock of New York, to Mr. and Mrs. William A. Huston the three-story brick house at 701 Aiken avenue for a consideration of $9,000. The lot is 30x93 feet.

The Price of Night Life!
Abyssinian Emperor Opens Up His Country to "Blessings of Modern Civilization" and Finds That Night Life Is Disarming His Officers and Corrupting His Soldiers

The Emperor's Cousin Recently Won the French Heiress at an Abyssinian Night Club by Handing Her His Jeweled Sword, His Ruby-Studded Dagger and His Pearl-Inlaid Gun. A Defeated Rival, Finding His Hated Enemy Unarmed in Public, Probably for the First Time in His Life, Had a Bright Idea. Wielding His Own Sword Aptly He Brought It Down With a Fatal Swing Across the Neck of the Emperor's Cousin, Who Pitched Dying at the Feet of the Heiress.

THE barbaric natives in the ancient land of the Queen of Sheba yearned for night life. . . . Their liberal monarch, Haile Selassie I, imported a bevy of beautiful dancers from Paris to entertain his young men and give them an idea of what was what in up-to-date civilization. . . . More dancers followed, at their own expense. . . . They have made a business of night life in Abyssinia—a sorry business over which His Imperial Majesty Haille is wringing his royal hands.

Abyssinia now has Prohibition, speakeasies, and bootleggers. . . . Corruption and bribery are prevalent, all because the Emperor had allowed a ray or two of "civilization" to penetrate his dark African empire.

Do you know what the Abyssinian king is doing to stop the civilizing process before his young men are ruined entirely? . . . All the facts are given in an exceptionally interesting article in The American Weekly next Sunday. . . . Be sure to read it!
